B.C. Woodworkers Voting To Reject Offer Of Board

Strike Threat Looms As June 15 Deadline Set

About half of the 32,000 B.C. coast I.W.A. members were queried during the week-end on whether or not they wished to accept a conciliation board report, providing them with a 9-cent-an-hour pay boost and with few exceptions, followed their provincial policy committee's recommendation to reject the offer.

About 400 of the I.W.A.'s members voted on the question following a two-hour discussion of the report at the Victoria Labor Council hall, Sunday night. According to local union officials, the decision to reject was unanimous.

The two largest I.W.A. locals in the province—Vancouver and New Westminster, having a combined membership of more than 10,000—turned down the conciliation board award at separate week-end meetings.

Port Alberni and Mission locals also decided to turn thumbs down on the award. Result of vote being taken among the union's entire membership is expected to be known on June 5.

The union has threatened that if there is no satisfactory agreement reached by June 15, it will strike.

Board Sitting On Woodworkers' Pay

A three-man conciliation board with Philip Fleming as chairman held its first sitting today to consider matters in dispute between the International Woodworkers of America and the Island logging firm of Bloedel, Stewart and Welch Ltd.

The union in negotiating for a 1950 wage contract, has asked for a 17-cent an hour wage boost and union security. The company has said no.

The board of conciliators will likely sit until Wednesday before presentations of both sides are completed.

Japan Expects Red Pressure

TOKYO (AP)—Two days of speculation left many observers in Japan convinced that new Communist pressure would result from Russian Lt.-Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko's hasty recall to Moscow.

The head of the Soviet mission in Tokyo and his wife left Saturday. They were accompanied by 50 other members of the Soviet colony, including at least two key advisers.

It was believed generally that only urgent business would cause Derevyanko to leave Japan before the Diet's (Parliament) Upper House elections Saturday. Soviet vessels call here each month.

Gambling Heads Flee Subpoenas

CHICAGO (UP)—Federal and local gambling investigations have clamped the lid on organized crime, underworld figures and police authorities agreed today.

Fear of a subpoena from a Senate committee investigating "syndicate" operations has prompted the overlords of crime to issue orders curtailing operations until the heat cools off.

In many cases, the big shots themselves have picked up and left for obscure resorts or other places where they hope to hide out from the spotlight of publicity.

Ralph (Bottles) Capone, Jake Buzik, "Golf Bag" Sammy Hunt and others on the Chicago crime scene aren't around these days.

And authorities in other cities also report underworld activities at the low ebb in years.

The mobsters, with good reason, shudder at the thought of a subpoena from the Senate committee.

But they generally feel the investigations will not produce any lasting results.

Most hoodlums long ago realized it's bad business to tangle with the federal government.

They know how to dodge local law, but they also know that a federal subpoena can reach out anywhere.

Should they be called before the committee, they face contempt charges if they refuse to testify, perjury if they lie, and all kinds of trouble if they talk.

"Anyway you look at it, it's a losing deal," one underworld figure said.

NO WORD ON ARENA REPAIRS

Deadline Today But Contractor Waits News

Expected instructions from C. T. Hamilton, consulting engineer, on what he wanted done to the floor of Memorial Arena, did not arrive in this morning's mail.

The City Council set deadline for the contractor's to get started on repairs, W. J. Hamilton of Luney Bros. and Hamilton, the contracting firm, said today.

Asked if there was any possibility of work being started later today if instructions came in the afternoon mail he replied:

"We recognize no such thing as a deadline. We promised to do re-grinding work to be completed by Sept. 24 and we will live up to that."

"We cannot stop everything and go to work on the arena floor immediately if Mr. Hamilton wants it."

Ald. Frank G. Mulliner, who telephoned the consulting engineer Friday was confident this morning that a copy of the letter going to Luney Bros. and Hamilton would have been received at City Hall Saturday morning and awaiting him there today.

Korea Voting Comparatively Quiet; 6 Dead

SEOUL (AP)—The little republic of Korea, born of the turmoil of the Second World War and a hot spot in the Asian cold war since, today wound up a quiet (for Korea) campaign for tomorrow's national election.

Six deaths, three kidnappings, four cases of arson and about 500 arrests have been reported. Among those clamped in jail were 42 candidates and 178 electioneers. The main charge was violation of election laws in sympathy with Communism.

This calm compared with the bloody elections of two years ago when some 800 were killed or wounded in the campaign and another 100 casualties were added election day.

The 1948 trouble was blamed on North Korean Communists.

Fraser's Biggest Jump At Mission

VANCOUVER (CP)—Biggest jump in the Fraser River run-off in two weeks was recorded today at Mission.

The gauge there registered 12.04 feet, 1.03 feet higher than the Saturday reading of 11.01.

Last increase in the run-off was May 15, when a rise of 1.61 feet was recorded. Then the level gradually dropped during several days of cool weather.

However, temperatures in the run-off basin have increased in the last few days.

Toronto World Trade Fair To Hit New High

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian International Trade Fair got under way today for its third and biggest show yet.

Thirty-four countries have set up exhibits of everything from cameos to diesel engines, and between now and closing date, June 9, some 40,000 buyers from about 70 countries will look at them.

Started in 1948 as a step in promoting postwar trade, the fair has been to date unique in North America, though this year the first United States International Trade Fair will be held in Chicago Aug. 7 to 19.

It is really a big sample room with exhibits occupying some 162,000 square feet of space. There, buyers can look at the exhibitors' goods and business can be transacted in quiet, or contacts made which may result in business in the future. It takes up two of the largest permanent buildings of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Growing Crime Wake In Montreal Harries Police

MONTREAL (CP)—A growing crime wave kept Montreal police on the hop during the week-end as they continued a hunt for the killer of Royal Canadian Mounted Police Constable Alexander Gamman.

The 38-year-old veteran of 14 years with the R.C.M.P. was fatally wounded when he attempted to stop an unsuccessful bank bandit at a Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hill Thursday.

Some 2,000 men from the R.C.M.P., provincial and city police forces, spurred by the death of the constable, answered countless tips as to the whereabouts of the desperado.

Their search spread as far as Maskinonge County, 80 miles east of here, when it was reported a man answering the killer's description had been seen in that area.

Heavily-armed police squads sped to the scene and combed maple, sugar, camps and vacant cabins in the wooded region, but to no avail.

Police warned that the man was desperate and will fight it out if cornered. Although reported wounded in the groin, he managed to evade capture.

At Least One Canadian Several In U.S. Listed

LONDON (CP)—Two London newspapers claim further arrests, including at least one Canadian and several Americans, will result from current questioning of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, convicted British atomic spy.

The predictions, made Sunday by the Sunday Reynolds News and the Sunday Empire News, were not confirmed officially.

The Empire News said that for the last 10 days Fuchs had been "identifying suspect after suspect from films of thousands of people flown secretly and under close guard from America."

"Fresh arrests in the war on atom spies in America and Canada," the paper continued, "are certain to follow information he has been giving day by day."

BIGGEST ROUND-UP

Reynolds News said "more than a dozen atomic scientists, government officials and businessmen are likely to be arrested in the biggest international spy round-up ever known and charged with passing top secret information to Russia. They include a Briton, at least one Canadian and six Americans."

Fuchs is serving a 14-year sentence for funneling atomic secrets to Russia. Two United States agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have been questioning him for the last week.

Since the questioning began, one man already has been arrested in the United States. He is Harry Gold, Philadelphia research chemist. The F.B.I. said Gold had admitted having dealings with Fuchs, once one of Britain's top theoretical atomic scientists.

LIE DETECTOR

Another London newspaper, the Daily Graphic, said Fuchs will be asked to submit to lie detector tests of his reliability as an informer on Russia's espionage net.

The Graphic said the lie detector already has been taken to Wormwood Scrubs prison, where Fuchs is confined. The F.B.I. men have asked permission to use it if Fuchs agrees, the newspaper said.

The Graphic added: "It is understood Fuchs hopes for a remission of his 14-year jail term as a reward for the evidence he has proved, but no promise of any kind has been made to him. He believes from four to seven years may be slashed from his sentence."

Maritimers Fight Forest Fires

TORONTO (CP)—The Maritime forest fire situation grew worse today while week-end rains had eliminated immediate danger in most parts of Ontario and Quebec.

New Brunswick forest officials banned all forest travel as rising temperatures and continuing low humidity nourished 15 fires which already have destroyed thousands of acres of valuable timberland in that province and in Nova Scotia.

Halibut Boat Awaits Rescue By Icebreaker

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The United States Coast Guard ice breaker Northwind is speeding to the aid of a 52-foot halibut trawler in distress with six men aboard off the gale-lashed British Columbia coast about 400 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Coast Guard headquarters at Seattle said the Northwind changed its course when the trawler Oceanus radioed an SOS from a position 30 miles south, west of Goode Island in Queen Charlotte Sound.

The Royal Canadian Air Force at Vancouver said the Oceanus propeller or steering mechanism was damaged and the vessel was drifting.

Southeasterly winds of gale force were reported along the British Columbia coast.

The Weather Bureau at Vancouver said a 55-mile-an-hour gale was blowing in Queen Charlotte Sound Sunday night, but the winds were gradually decreasing today.

Haakon Selvar of Seattle was listed as owner of the trawler. He was one of the six men aboard the vessel.

C.N.R. Chief Impressed By Tour Of Lines

MONTREAL—Confidence in the continuing expansion of Canada's economic development, and in the ability of the railways to provide the transportation facilities essential to national prosperity was voiced by Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, on his return to headquarters following an inspection trip of some 50,000 miles to western Canada and the Pacific coast.

"I was impressed with the tremendous industrial and other expansion that has taken place, and with the immense possibilities that lie ahead of us," said Mr. Gordon. "The railways have played a significant part in this development, and the so-called over-building of Canadian railways will in course be fully justified. I found it an exhilarating and inspiring experience to see Canada from the railroad bed up."

Acheson, U.N. Chief, Truman In Conference

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman received a secret report from Secretary of State Dean Acheson today on the western powers' recent cold war strategy talks in London.

Acheson went into the White House conference armed with additional information. He had just obtained from United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie on the latter's "peace pilgrimage" to Moscow and western European capitals.

Lie, himself, was scheduled to see Mr. Truman this afternoon. He talked with Acheson for 20 minutes, and after the meeting the Secretary forestalled Lie from talking to reporters.

As they posed for photographers, reporters started to question the U.N. official. Acheson put his arm around him and said:

"We have had a confidential chat. I think that is all there is to say."

Acheson then herded Lie away through a back corridor.

Lie also scheduled an afternoon meeting with Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorpe, who handles economic affairs for the State Department.

No New Formal Pact On Wheat, Experts Think

Believe Canada To Enter Competition For British Trade

By SYDNEY GAMPPELL

LONDON (Reuter)—Canada and Britain have agreed to end the system of bilateral wheat agreements between them, which has been so strongly criticized in the United States, wheat experts in London said today.

The decision, which experts believe the two governments took in the London discussions last week between British officials and C. D. Howe, the Canadian trade minister, is not expected to be made known until next week.

Under it Canada and Britain will have no firm bulk contract for Canadian wheat after the current four-year agreement expires July 31, experts believe.

Canada would simply compete for Britain's market for dollar wheat within the price limits of the international wheat agreement. For next season these limits are a maximum of $1.98 and a minimum of $1.43 a bushel.

Grain experts thought that Canada might capture the whole of British markets for dollar wheat. This season, the United States got a small part of it. But this would be done in open competition, instead of by a bilateral pact.

15-Foot Wall Of Water As Dam Breaks

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—A log dam at Clearwater Lake, 60 miles northwest of Fort Frances, broke without warning Sunday night, sending a 15-foot high wall of water crashing upon summer homes and other property along the lake shore.

First reports said no one was injured, but property damage was described as "very high."

Eyewitnesses arriving here today told of huge pine trees being uprooted and turning "end over end" as the 30-foot log dam let go.

The effects of the sudden rush of water from Clearwater Lake are expected to be felt here by late tonight. The water must pass through a succession of small lakes before reaching Rainy Lake here.

The level of Rainy Lake now is the highest in years following an unusually heavy spring runoff. Whether Rainy Lake's level would be affected appreciably could not be estimated accurately immediately. Considerable flooding already has resulted in the Fort Frances area as a result of Rainy Lake's high water.

The level of Clearwater Lake itself rose five feet during the night but it was thought here it was too small a body of water to affect Rainy Lake appreciably.

Florida Man Accused Of Damaging Canada Plane

Airliner About To Leave For Pilgrimage To Rome; Ownership Was Under Dispute

MONTREAL (CP)—A U.S. pilot was charged today with damaging an airplane just before it was scheduled to take off for Rome with 52 passengers on a Holy Year trip.

The pilot, James Henry Vinson, 29, whose address was given as just Florida, was accused of releasing the air brake pressure on the plane. The defect was discovered in a routine check before the plane took to the air.

His lawyer, Joseph Cohen, said the action arose from a dispute over ownership of the aircraft. Vinson, he said, was acting on instructions from his company—Ocean Air Trade Ways—which had leased the plane to Curtiss-Reid Flying Service Ltd.

Curtiss-Reid laid the charge, the company claimed that Vinson's action caused $57 damage. The plane took off later.

The defence chose trial by jury. Preliminary hearing was set for June 6.

Judge T. A. Fontaine said the charge was serious and despite the small amount of damage he would fix bail at $500, or $250 cash deposit.

The charge was that Vinson acted in order to prevent or delay the plane's departure.

Mr. Cohen said the plane belonged to Ocean Air Trade Ways, which had leased it to Curtiss-Reid, but that the contract had expired May 20 and had not been renewed.

In spite of this, he said, Curtiss-Reid made preparations for the take-off. He said proceedings will be taken immediately by the American company to regain possession of the plane.

Alexander Stelker, representing the local Curtiss-Reid company, said the plane was bought by Curtiss-Reid and was registered as a Canadian-owned plane. He claimed Vinson was trespassing on the plane and deliberately tampered with it.

Curtiss-Reid officials added that the plane "couldn't" have moved six inches after the air brake was released. They said there was no danger to the passengers and the plane left Montreal on schedule.

Indications In Ottawa Top May Blow As Fuchs Quizzed

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications today are that Canada is engaged with Britain and the United States in an anti-espionage drive whose pace hasn't been matched since the celebrated spy trials of 1946.

There are signs that it may blow open at any time.

But it is all submerged and curtailed off. Nobody in Ottawa was talking today.

The latest indication is a London press report that one Canadian will be among those swept up in a three-nation swoop on a Communist atomic spy network.

It is not impossible that the Mounties already have the evidence that could warrant the reopening of at least one of the 1946 trials that ended in acquittal.

It is the notebook seized in 1946 from one of those later acquitted. In it was found the name of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the German-born British atomic scientist now serving 14 years' imprisonment as a spy for Russia.

Under the sweeping Official Secrets Act, basis of the prosecutions, that fact alone would establish a presumption of guilt against the owner of the notebook unless he could explain the presence of Fuchs' name to the satisfaction of a jury.

EXTENT INQUIRY

The iron-bound reticence of officials and other hints made it obvious that behind the scenes the Mounties anti-espionage officials are co-operating with U.S. and British police in an effort to exploit the Fuchs and Harry Gold arrests into a full-scale offensive against Communist espionage.

In London the Empire News said that for the last 10 days Fuchs had been "identifying suspect after suspect from films of thousands of people flown secretly and under close guard from America."

"Fresh arrests in the war on atom spies in America and Canada," the paper continued, "are certain to follow information he has been giving day by day."

BIGGEST ROUND-UP

Also in London Reynolds News said "more than a dozen atomic scientists, government officials and businessmen are likely to be arrested in the biggest international spy round-up ever known and charged with passing top secret information to Russia. They include a Briton, at least one Canadian and six Americans."

Two United States agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have been questioning Fuchs for the last week in his British cell.

Since the questioning began, one man already has been arrested in the United States. He is Harry Gold, Philadelphia research chemist. The F.B.I. said Gold had admitted having dealings with Fuchs, once one of Britain's top theoretical atomic scientists.

Another London newspaper, the Daily Graphic, said Fuchs will be asked to submit to lie-detector tests of his reliability as an informer on Russia's espionage net.

Fifth Column Act In Canada's Next War, Probability

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department's chief law officer said today the prospect of fifth column activity in Canada in another war figured "very prominently" in the drafting of Canada's new unified code of military law.

Brig. W. J. Lawson, Judge Advocate-General, told the defence committee of the Commons he is satisfied the forces now will be armed with "sufficient authority" to handle any fifth column in any new war.

The subject was raised by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative member for Nanaimo, as the committee moved through clauses dealing with arrest and authority to arrest—part of a bulky bill to consolidate and modernize military legislation.

BABY WHOOPER DISAPPEARS

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP)—The first whooping crane ever-born in captivity and one of only 38 in the world, has disappeared and is presumed dead, Julian A. Howard, manager of the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge, said today.

Rusty, a reddish-brown chick, which was a triumph for experts who have striven for 13 years to preserve from extinction the colorful, graceful whoopers, was probably the prey of a predatory animal, Howard said.

Film Writers' Final Appeal Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court today stood pat on its refusal to review the contempt of Congress convictions of movie writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo.

Both refused to tell the House un-American activities committee during its 1947 Red-in-Hollywood hearing whether they were members of the Communist Party.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, in upholding the contempt convictions, declared Congress may abridge freedom of speech and freedom to remain silent "when legislating to avert what it believes to be a threat of substantial evil to national welfare."

The eight: Ring Lardner Jr., Albert Maltz, Alvah Bessie, Samuel Orlitz, Herbert Biberman, Edward Dmytryk, Adrian Scott and Lester Cole.

DECISION TOMORROW

15,000 Votes Expected On Question Of Beer

The 100 polling stations where Victoria citizens will go tomorrow to vote on whether or not they favor sale of beer by the glass will be open from 8 in the morning to 8 at night.

All persons who live within the city limits and have their names on the provincial voters' list will be eligible to record their opinion.

There are 30,775 entitled to participate in the balloting but only half, or roughly 15,000, are expected to do so. To pass, the plebiscite requires a 55 per cent majority of the total-votes cast.

Returning officer for the plebiscite is David G. Sloan, who this afternoon announced these last-minute changes in polling locations:

In polling division 22, 11 Caledonia Avenue will be the polling station instead of 938 Caledonia. Polling booths in division 38 will be located at 1790 Emerson Street, instead of 1700 Emerson.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

POLITICAL PHENOMENA

APPARENTLY nothing that California ever does is on a scale less than supercolossal, whether it's movie spectacles, flowers or whatnot. And the adjective applies just as aptly to its political campaigns, judging by what I saw and heard during my brief trip to Santa Barbara.

That campaign has been dramatized to an almost theatrical intensity by the presence among the candidates of James Roosevelt, who is making an intensive drive for the governorship, and glamorous Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas, who is out to win a Senate seat.

DRAMATIC AND DYNAMIC

THE 42-year-old son of the late President Roosevelt is on a vigorous tub-thumping trip to every town and whistle-stop in the state, traveling by plane and car. And he has already achieved much of his announced objective of "visiting every community in the state with 10 or more people," in search of votes.

As an actress, and the wife of McVyn Douglas, the actor, Mrs. Douglas brings to the current campaign the intensity of a highly dramatic temperament and an energy that could have developed only in the atmosphere which produces those giant geraniums and sunlit starlets. After campaigning once all up and down the whole of the state, she is out again on another sweep of California, and while I was there addressed a monster "barbecue" meeting at nearby Montecito ranch.

NOT AN EASY RUN

WITH two such dynamic personalities participating, it isn't to be wondered at that election tempers are more strained than usual, and that the campaign is one of the main topics of conversation wherever you go.

Incidentally, one odd thing about California politics is that candidates for the primaries can cross party lines as if they didn't exist and so enter under the banner of both parties. Governor Earl Warren, Roosevelt's opponent, has filed for a third term under both Republican and Democratic primaries—which adds to the confusing political picture, as viewed by an outsider.

And it was as an interested outsider that I received the reactions of many Californians I met during my brief stay.

TO UNMASK HER

FOR instance, many Democrats resent the intrusion of Roosevelt on the California scene because they say he "doesn't belong," and so they won't vote for him. And Mrs. Douglas' alleged efforts to get the backing of some of the powerful women's organizations have also aroused resentment—as was apparent by the hard, but losing fight her supporters waged in the convention at which I was a guest speaker.

And I noticed in a San Francisco paper that a member of one of the state's oldest Democratic families, the same woman who nominated Mrs. Douglas at the National Democratic convention at Chicago in 1947, had come out with a public statement urging Senator Sheridan Downey, the present incumbent of the Senate seat for which the actress-politician is campaigning, to "unmask her voting record in the House of Representatives."

NOISE AND POLITICS

AS IN all political campaigns, even the bitterest, there are, fortunately, some humorous highlights. At least that is the way I looked upon an incident in the deliberations of the San Rafael City Council, when it asked its chief of police and attorney to specify what kind of noise annoys non-partisan citizens.

It appears that a city ordinance prohibits "loud, nerve-racking raucous noises, human, animal or mechanical." An irate Republican invoked that law when James Roosevelt's sound truck appeared in the city streets. Whereupon a Democrat, while admitting that the Roosevelt voice might be raucous and nerve-racking to Republicans, pointed out that it wasn't half as nerve-racking and raucous as a certain Republican campaigner's brass band was to San Rafael Democrats!

All of which proves that while a California politician's lot may not be a happy one, the San Rafael police chief's may not be much happier—until after June 6, at any rate!

SAANICH ROOF FIRE

Saanich firemen Sunday morning put out a roof fire at the 500 Obed Avenue home of M. E. Parsons. About $100 damage was done. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

On May 20, 16 inch fell but both amounts are only a drop in the bucket according to Saanich gardeners, who are sprinkling as usual today.

By watering today the rain that did fall can be driven into the ground, where it can do some good, the gardeners say.

Most of them are looking for a lot more rain. While non-gardening residents say they could use a lot more sun.

Ferry Chinook Goes On Summer Schedule

The Black Ball Ferry Line's Mv. Chinook now is operating on a summer schedule, completing two round trips between this city and Port Angeles and one trip to and from Seattle each day.

The white-hulled ferry leaves here at 9.15 in the morning and 1.35 in the afternoon for Port Angeles, making shuttle trips across the strait. She leaves for Seattle at 6.15 in the evening. All times are daylight saving.

$500 Theft

A burglar who broke into the 2376 Oak Bay Avenue home of K. A. McLeod, jeweler, between Saturday afternoon and night, stole $500 worth of jewelry, police reported. No one was at home at the time. Entry was gained by breaking the basement door window. The loss is insured.

Eight Injured In Week-End Crashes

Two Tourist Cars Among Twelve In Accidents

Eight persons received hurts and more than $2,000 damage was done to 12 cars in a series of Victoria and district highway accidents during the week-end. Involved were two cars driven by tourists.

Worst collision took place around 2.30 Sunday morning on the Island Highway at Thetis Lake Road intersection. Four persons were injured and about $1,000 damage was done to the two cars in the crash.

Drivers, according to B.C. police, were Alexander T. Murray, 990 Tolmie Avenue, and Lorne A. Heath, Ocean Boulevard, Colwood.

Injured were: Murray, head cuts; Mrs. Murray, facial cuts from windshield; Heath, bump on the head, and Mrs. Heath, a sprained ankle. They were treated at Jubilee Hospital.

Constables Stuart D. Callin and Jim Forsythe were following the Murray car into town when the crash occurred almost in the centre of the road. The officers said Murray was too far over in the road.

About $500 damage was done and four persons sustained minor hurts in an East Saanich Road collision on Saturday afternoon. Drivers were Phillip Holloway, East Saanich Road, and Lt.-Col. James H. Carboos, Salt Spring Island, police said.

Hurt were: Holloway, shock; his wife, facial cuts; Col. Carboos, head bruises and cuts; a child in the Holloway car, a shaking up.

No one was hurt but the remainder of the damage bill was done in four separate city accidents Sunday afternoon and night.

First occurred at 2 at Niagara and Government Streets. Cars were driven by Otto S. Brender, Ash Street, Omapk, Wash., and Svend Holger Bronke, 121 Menzies Street, the Bronke car being turned over. Approximately $250 damage was done to the turned over vehicle, $75 to other.

Estimated $300 damage was done to a car driven by Dr. Richard A. Lyon, 822 Newport Avenue, and about $50 to one in control of Harold E. Ellington, Edmonton, of care of 1595 Rockland Avenue, in a Gorge and Harriet Road crash at 6.25.

A few minutes later a Douglas and Humboldt Streets collision involved cars driven by Ronald C. Young, 1665 Freeman Street, and Mrs. Gertrude Stark, 318 Vancouver Street. Police said $200 damage was done to Young's car, about $50 to the other.

At 9.30 cars driven by H. J. Decker, 2827 Graham Street, and George Lougren, 312 Chester, were in collision at Cook and Bay Streets. Damage to each car amounted to about $175.

UP-ISLANDERS WATCH LIGHTS

Up-island residents had a short glimpse of the aurora borealis Saturday evening between 10 and 10.30.

Just as dusk was starting to fall, long silver streaks began to take form in the northeastern skies, and gradually shifted to the north before dispersing.

Although the display was not spectacular or colorful, the long streaks over the northern heavens made an arresting sight.

Gambling Chiefs In U.S. Flee As Senators Probe

CHICAGO (UP)—Federal and local gambling investigations have clamped the lid on organized crime, underworld figures and police authorities agreed today.

Fear of a subpoena from a Senate committee investigating "syndicate" operations has prompted the overlords of crime to issue orders curtailing operations until the heat cools off.

In many cases, the big shots themselves have packed up and left for obscure resorts or other places where they hope to hide out from the spotlight of publicity.

Ralph (Bottles) Capone, Jake Buzik, "Golf Bag" Sammy Hunt and others on the Chicago crime scene aren't around these days. And authorities in other cities also report underworld activities at the lowest ebb in years.

The mobsters, with good reason, shudder at the thought of a subpoena from the Senate committee. But they generally feel the investigations will not produce any lasting results.

Most hoodlums long ago realized it's bad business to tangle with the federal government. They know how to dodge local law, but they also know that a federal subpoena can reach out anywhere.

French Pacifist Dies

PARIS (Reuter)—Marc Sangnier, leader of the French Pacifist movement between the world wars, founder of the Young Republic Party and of the French Youth Hostels movement, died in Paris Sunday. He was 77. During the war he was arrested by the Gestapo in Paris and interned for secretly publishing a resistance newspaper.

Woodworkers Turn Down Wage Offer

Strike Looms As June 15 Deadline Set In I.W.A. Dispute

About half of the 32,000 B.C. coast I.W.A. members were queried during the week-end on whether or not they wished to accept a conciliation board report, providing them with a 9 cents an hour pay boost, and with few exceptions followed their provincial policy committee's recommendation to reject the offer.

About 400 of the I.W.A.'s members voted on the question following a two-hour discussion of the report at the Victoria Labor Council hall, Sunday night. According to local union officials, the decision to reject was unanimous.

The two largest I.W.A. locals in the province—Vancouver and New Westminster, having a combined membership of more than 10,000—turned down the conciliation board award at separate week-end meetings.

Port Alberni and Mission locals also decided to turn thumbs down on the award. Result of vote being taken among the union's entire membership is expected to be known on June 5.

The union has threatened that if there is no satisfactory work agreement reached by June 15, it will strike.

Toronto World Trade Fair To Hit New High

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian International Trade Fair got under way today for its third and biggest show yet.

Thirty-four countries have set up exhibits of everything from cameos to diesel engines, and between now and closing date, June 9, some 40,000 buyers from about 70 countries will look at them.

Started in 1948 as a step in promoting postwar trade, the fair has been to date unique in North America, though this year the first United States International Trade Fair will be held in Chicago Aug. 7 to 19.

It is really a big sample room with exhibits occupying some 162,000 square feet of space. There, buyers can look at the exhibitors' goods and business can be transacted in quiet, or contacts made which may result in business in the future. It takes up two of the largest permanent buildings of the Canadian National Exhibition.

C.N.R. Chief Impressed By Tour Of Lines

MONTREAL — Confidence in the continuing expansion of Canada's economic development, and in the ability of the railways to provide the transportation facilities essential to national prosperity was voiced by Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, on his return to headquarters following an inspection trip of some 50,000 miles to western Canada and the Pacific coast.

"I was impressed with the tremendous industrial and other expansion that has taken place, and with the immense possibilities that lie ahead of us," said Mr. Gordon. "The railways have played a significant part in this development, and the so-called over-building of Canadian railways will in course be fully justified. I found it an exhilarating and inspiring experience to see Canada from the railroad bed up."

Korea Voting Comparatively Quiet; 6 Dead

SEOUL (AP)—The little republic of Korea, born of the turmoil of the Second World War and a hot spot in the Asian cold war since, today wound up a quiet (for Korea) campaign for tomorrow's national election.

Six deaths, three kidnappings, four cases of arson and about 500 arrests have been reported. Among those clamped in jail were 42 candidates and 178 electioneers. The main charge was violation of election laws in sympathy with Communism.

This calm compared with the bloody elections of two years ago when some 800 were killed or wounded in the campaign and another 100 casualties were added election day.

The 1948 trouble was blamed on North Korean Communists.

Southeast Asians To Be Consulted

BAGUIO, The Philippines (CP)—Seven southeast Asia and western Pacific countries tentatively approved a declaration today serving notice they must be consulted on any actions affecting their area.

Growing Crime Wake In Montreal Harries Police

MONTREAL (CP)—A growing crime wave kept Montreal police on the hop during the week-end as they continued a hunt for the killer of Royal Canadian Mounted Police Constable Alexander Gamman.

The 58-year-old veteran of 14 years with the R.C.M.P. was fatally wounded when he attempted to stop an unsuccessful bank bandit at a Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill Thursday.

Some 2,000 men from the R.C.M.P., provincial and city police forces, spurred by the death of the constable, answered countless tips as to the whereabouts of the desperado.

Their search spread as far as Maskinonge County, 80 miles east of here, when it was reported a man answering the killer's description had been seen in that area.

Heavily-armed police squads sped to the scene and combed maple sugar camps and vacant cabins in the wooded region, but to no avail.

Police warned today the man is desperate and will fight it out if cornered. Although reported wounded in the groin, he managed to evade capture.

A suspect was arrested Saturday but later was found to be guilty only of a minor robbery. Unidentified by police, he was said to have been wounded slightly when he held up a taxi driver.

Police were kept busy with a series of crimes, including two hold-ups that netted $535.

Let The Result Be Emphatic

AFTER DIGESTING ALL THE ADVERTISING material and the opinions expressed in communications to the newspapers it is reasonable to assume that most of the eligible voters in this community have made up their minds how they are going to cast their ballots when they go to the polls tomorrow. Proponents of the sale of beer by the glass have treated the reading and radio public to a variety of, persuasive fare in their efforts to convince the electors that Victoria will be in the van of progress if a selected list of the city's hotels are equipped with "licensed premises." Advocates of the preservation of the status quo in respect of this highly-controversial question, have not lagged behind in the presentation of arguments intended to cast more than a little doubt on the validity of the manifold claims of the hotelmen. Indeed, there has been a strange and lively mixture of economic and moral contentions and specific points of view, so much so that many followers of the campaign must have experienced considerable bewilderment.

All that remains to be said about the actual settling of the matter one way or the other is to express the hope that all those entitled to exercise the franchise will recognize and measure up to their responsibilities as citizens by doing their duty at the polls. Nothing would be more unsatisfactory than a small vote and a decision by a similarly small margin. If the verdict is to go in favor of beer parlors, let it be an emphatic one, one that will unmistakably reflect the views of a substantial cross section of the voting public. If the answer to the sponsors of the appeal is to be a negative one, then that, too, should be equally emphatic, so that this controversy could be shelved indefinitely. It is, therefore, up to the people themselves to say what they want or do not want. Those who do not take the trouble to mark a ballot tomorrow will not be entitled to grumble if the decision does not please them.

A Complete Flop

YESTERDAY'S LONG-HERALDED demonstration by Berlin's Communist Youth organization is not likely to go down on the record as a striking advertisement for the Kremlin's propaganda technique. Peace-loving people everywhere, of course, sent up a sigh of relief as the news of the day failed to report anything in the nature of the "overt act." Nor did it appear that the parading thousands were equipped to do much more than chant the modern hymn of hate against the "western warmongers" and the "imperialism" of Great Britain and the United States. There was nothing at all new in the strident cries from the 1950 imitators of the Hitler Jugend. The wearing of blue shirts instead of brown furnished the faint touch of originality, differentiating their fanatical wearers from the "fine worshippers" of more than a decade ago. If yesterday's Communist carnival was the best the oligarchy in Moscow could devise to impress the satellite nations behind the Iron Curtain with Russian might and influence in the former German capital, it is permissible to describe the event as a complete flop, much ado about next to nothing. On the other hand, however, the preparedness of the western nations to meet any emergency that might have arisen represented a technique which furnishes its commentary. It figuratively challenged Stalin and Company to put up or shut up. The men of Moscow obviously thought that discretion was the better part of valor.

Accomplishment In Safety

ACCORDING TO A REPORT FROM Youbou the other day, a Cowichan mill has received the first merit award ever granted by the Workmen's Compensation Board for a low accident rate. The period covered by the award was 1949. Such presentations, even when accompanied by banquets, are not specifically newsworthy or sensational. They represent merely the extension of care in operation of machinery and the manipulation of heavy materials. When that care is lacking, and an accident ensues, the outcome automatically commands greater attention in the news columns. Disaster is more spectacular.

The point deserves attention because commendable as safety work is, its results are usually taken as their own reward. Drivers who travel the streets and highways day in and day out without an accident seldom make the news. When they suffer from lapses of caution and are involved in mishaps, they receive publicity.

We do not suggest that a reward should be given to everyone engaged in what can be hazardous occupations—and driving a car can be such. At the same time, it is pleasing to note the recognition accorded the Cowichan mill. In that field of our industrial life, accidents are all too frequent. When conscientious effort has been expended to check them, those who have preached and practiced the gospel of safety so successfully deserve a pat on the back.

The truth of the bromide that accidents are bound to happen is not challenged. It is equally true, however, that many of them can be prevented, as the award winner has demonstrated so conclusively. May the firm maintain that record. Whether it wins further prizes or not, it and its employees know that caution pays off. In addition to being honored in the way the Workmen's Compensation Board chose to mark the safety year, they have been spared the pain and financial loss that accidents entail.

A Welcome Awaits Him

WHILE VICTORIANS—APART FROM City Council members—have not yet had the pleasure of making Mr. Cecil Clifford Wyatt's acquaintance, there is little doubt that he will be generally welcomed here in October when he takes up his duties as city manager. It is some months since a majority of voters recorded their wish to see the city manager plan inaugurated in this community. Some 80 applications for the position were subsequently received and several individuals were brought here for personal interviews. Mr. Wyatt would appear to have favorably impressed those who talked with him on his recent visit, and his qualifications for the post are such as to have gained him second place in the priority list drawn up by a firm of management engineers. Of English birth, the new appointee has spent 38 of his 52 years in Canada, many of them in responsible posts involving hospital and civic administration, and R.C.A.F. executive work. Local citizens, awaiting the commencement of his duties next Oct. 1, will be moved to wish him every success in his new work, hopeful that the long process of selection and negotiation has resulted in an arrangement whereby our community affairs may be more efficiently and economically administered for the general good of the people.

Greek Wartime Profiteers Find Justice Triumphs In The End

By PHILIP DEANÉ, from Athens

GREECE has many weird unions. There is the Union of the Retired Violin Tuners, the Pan-Hellenic Union of War-Stricken Professional Motorists, the Association of Ruined Bus Owners, the Union of Wronged Workers of Pireaus, the Queen Alexandra Motorists' Confederation of Old Warriors, the Council of Retired Lieutenant-Generals, the Union of Retired Dancing Masters, the Union of Wronged and Mistreated Workers, and, of course, the Union of Cobweb Sweepers of Patras.

MUSEUM PIECES

Most of the unions are more or less museum pieces which delight and exasperate visiting syndicalists who come to Greece to investigate Communist claims about the persecution of unionism in Greece.

But two syndicalist freaks, born out of the war, have, in the last five years, seriously affected the course of the country's political development. They are the "Union of the Purchasers of Real Estate During the German Occupation" and the "Union of the Vendors of Real Estate during the Occupation." The latter are, of course, more numerous. They outnumber the purchasers by ten to one. This fact alone naturally dubs the purchasers as collaborators and war profiteers, for no one who did not work for the Germans or did not exploit the misery of his fellowmen during the famine years of occupation could possibly have found any money to invest in houses.

It can be said quite fairly that many purchasers got the houses virtually for a few loaves of bread. There are numerous instances of people who sold their houses for the price of a few meals. These people today regard the purchasers of their property as monsters who took advantage of the hunger of children to enrich themselves. Take, for instance, the case of Vassilis, a taxi driver, whose rank is outside my office. He sold his house for six gallons of oil and a bag of flour. It is quite a nice house, too, a cottage with a tiny garden.

Ever since the end of the war, the vendors' union has been trying to get a law annulling all transfers of property during the occupation. Of course, the purchasers fought against this measure as hard as they could. Last autumn, with the elections fast approaching, the vendors, who represented approximately 500,000 voters, succeeded in getting parliament to pass an emergency law cancelling all sales of property during the occupation. But its constitutionality could be denied in any court in the country.

HAPPY NOTE

The justices have been deliberating ever since. But it now appears that 360,000 homes will be returned to their rightful owners—unfortunately, after considerable litigation—and another bitter chapter of recent Greek history will end on a comparatively happy note.—OFNS Copyright.

Behind The Smile

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

HE smiles all the time. If you attend one of President Truman's weekly press-conferences, that is likely to be the first thing you notice about this natty, sharp-faced, ruddy-complexioned man, who carries such an appalling load of responsibility. With some people it requires a conscious effort to smile. With President Truman it apparently requires a conscious effort not to smile.

Most of the questions are pretty trivial, and when they are being asked or answered, the President's grin never for a moment leaves his face. Then there is a serious question—about defence, perhaps, or Tragedy Lie's peace mission—and one can almost sense Truman saying to himself, "This is serious. I must look solemn," as the grin is slowly erased.

THE SMILE is perhaps in part a nervous reaction. Even while he is smiling, you notice if you are near enough, the President is apt to open and shut his left hand in a tense, repeated motion. Yet the constant smile does certainly express something real in the man, whether it is mere cockiness or an irrational euphoria, or a healthy confidence, or native optimism.

As you look at him, it is hard to believe that this smiling man, with his neat, four-pointed silk handkerchief in his breast pocket, and his cheerful face, so astonishingly like the faces of so many Americans, is what he is. For here is a man who carries as heavy a load of responsibility as any president has ever carried. During no other presidency, after all, has an aggressive and ruthless potential enemy been capable of inflicting mortal wounds on the United States itself.

YET Harry Truman smiles on. What lies behind the smile? A man of courage and stature, for an amiable politician, catapulted by a series of incredible accidents into the Presidency? By the end of this year, it should be possible to answer this question with some assurance.

The reason is simple. President Truman is now confronted with a hard, clear-cut choice. The U.S. National Security Council is even now wrestling with this choice, but it is Truman who must take the final responsibility for any decision. The choice is between a real effort to place the Atlantic community as a whole in a posture of defence, or half-measures and business-as-usual.

HERE are some of the uncheerful facts of which the smiling president must be aware. The best estimates are that some time between 1952 and 1954 the Soviet Union should be capable of a surprise atomic strike which would knock out between 25 and 40 per cent of the American war potential. Moreover, unless the present scale of the Atlantic pact defence effort is decisively augmented, the Red Army will at the same time be capable of overrunning Western Europe and neutralizing Great Britain.

The Soviet Union is far less vulnerable to atomic bombing than the United States. The men in the Kremlin believe that war is sooner or later inevitable. Under the circumstances outlined above, the Soviets could hope to gain their ends by the mere threat of war, or failing that, to win a war if war came.

THE JAUNTY president must be aware of these facts. He must further be aware that his best experts do not believe that this situation need ever arise. For these experts believe that a determined effort will make it possible to deny Western Europe to the Red Army by the time the Soviets have a decisive atomic stockpile. Moreover, the experts believe that in this case the Soviet leaders could not risk war, simply because they would know they could not win it. If Soviet communications could be cut while the Red Army was still fighting, the offensive capabilities of the Red Army could be quite quickly undermined.

YET President Truman has also undoubtedly been studying the estimates of the experts on the scope of the effort required to make the defence of Western Europe a real thing instead of the sham it now is. The cost to the United States alone—and this assumes a major effort by the Europeans—would probably run to between $2,500,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 over a period of several years. At the same time, the military strength of the United States would have to be decisively increased.

This would mean continued high taxes, continued deficits, battles with congressional isolationists, the abandonment of costly domestic projects, even possible repudiation by the congress or at the polls. It is an old, familiar choice, which must be often in the mind of the President as he smiles so cheerfully. Others can advise. But only he can make the choice. So we should soon know what lies behind the smile.

STRAINING MERCY

Montreal Gazette

The danger in euthanasia is not only that it may open up the way to deterioration, the danger may well be that it is itself a symptom of that deterioration. The attachment of the word "mercy" to the word "killing" disguises the real source and explains the presence in the movement of some who are actually merciful.

But a time when medical hope is rapidly expanding is the poorest time to seek justification for reverting to the modern equivalent of the club and the stone of primitive man. Killing the sufferer is much too short a cut to end the problem of suffering. Now, as never before, the word "mercy" should be identified with the care of human life, and not extended to include its destruction.

The Sign Of The West

As Our Readers See It

SELF-CONTROL

Is it not strange that no one even suggests personal self-control as a cure for the evils of drunkenness, and the evils of juvenile delinquency? How can the human being born with both good and evil in him and in her, hope to make an honorable success of their lives without the exercise of self-control?

The failure of present-day parents to teach their children self-control is the root of juvenile delinquency.

ETHEL SEYMOUR.

FACE FACTS

The Hotel Owners' Association, by their newspaper advertising, would have one believe they were giving facts and stating the truth, but their radio spot ads don't seem to bear this out.

In one heard on Thursday they stated: "The last time we had prohibition, bootlegging thrived, crime increased, etc., etc." leaving the unwary to believe that on May 30 we're going to vote on total prohibition; the inference being that by voting "no" the present system is to be abolished and bootlegging and all its attendant evils will return.

They further state that for lack of beer parlors, the tourist industry is suffering, and that tourists to Victoria should be accommodated, but from the records of the office of the Collector of Customs it doesn't seem as though the tourists are staying away, nor will they, since the actual fact is that Victoria's main tourist attraction is that everything here is so different from what they have at home; and the vast majority of those who return here year after year will confirm this and will say "Keep it that way, don't ever change it because that's what we like about it."

Now, comparing drinking in cars to drinking in beer parlors. The "yes" men claim the former increases the danger of drunken driving, but they don't tell us just how drinking in beer parlors will correct this. Just how simple do they think the voting public is? For it matters not where a person consumes, his drink, the dangerous driving hazard will still be the same, if he drives after drinking.

Don't let's be stampeded into voting "yes" just to satisfy a few selfish interests. Let us consider both sides of the question impartially, then vote as conscience dictates, but vote.

VICTORIA'S STANDARD

Tomorrow we, the citizens of Victoria, will decide whether or not we wish to have beer parlors in our city.

The introduction of beer parlors would lower the standard of our fair city an untold amount. The sale of beer by the glass (it would not be served with meals but in beer parlors only) would increase juvenile delinquency, crimes, automobile accidents, street insults, deaths, broken homes, and unhappiness here. To say that licensed premises would decrease liquor excesses is ridiculous when honestly thought out.

Increased availability of intoxicating beverages will naturally result in increased consumption. We have but to stand outside any licensed hotel in some other city or make a trip some evening to one of the licensed premises outside our own city limits to prove this statement true. Yates and Douglas Streets are far better off without them.

I used to think that in a free enterprise system, people should be allowed to buy and sell and otherwise behave themselves as they want. However, I now see that this is not freedom but license. We do not allow men to use drugs, steal, molest their neighbors, drive dangerously, etc., and by the same token, we have a just right to prevent beer parlors with their accompanying disadvantages from disgracing our main streets.

Victoria is one of the few cities of its size left in Canada which can boast streets so free of the effects of liquor. Let us set the world a high example and keep it that way.

Now as loyal citizens we must all get out and vote one way or 't'other, and I am hoping that the results prove that we, the people of Victoria, are maintaining the high standard of our queen city.

CRIME CALENDAR

Authorities tell us that "from 1939-1945 casualties on the home front caused by 'liquor within the gates' were enormously more than those suffered by the armed forces at home and abroad from all causes of enemy action and sickness combined." For an enemy fifth column within our gates can you beat booze?

Juvenile delinquency is one of Victoria's baffling problems. That liquor is responsible for juvenile crime is well-known to all courts of justice as a heavy contributor. Before the present month of May was one week old the press reported one violent death in an affair which started in a beer parlor.

A case before Magistrate Hall caused him to remark that it was the third in a short time in which young men with good records had consumed too much liquor and become irresponsible. "A week-end was experienced by at least 11 persons who were picked up for drunkenness." And as for careless and drunken driving charges, they clutter the daily docket "ad nauseum." To quote city prosecutor Harrison, "drunken driving has become a public scandal."

Mr. and Mrs. Victoria—this recital of one week's court cases is the sordid business of beer parlors and kindred establishments; and that is not the whole sad story by any means.

As host to thousands and thousands of tourists (our chief industry) do you consider this a grace or stigma on your fair name? Failure to vote against the further ravages of Boss Booze on May 30 will well merit the rebuke of Edgar Bergen to that beloved nitwit, Mortimer Snerd, when he says: "How can you be so stupid?"

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

As one of your subscribers I wonder if you would kindly let me use a small space in your paper. I just wonder if the city authorities need to see a dozen people lying dead on the street before deciding to install a traffic light?

The intersection of Fort and Quadra street in the last year has been the scene of at least half a dozen accidents. The police have records and know exactly the number of damaged cars, including casualties. It is some time since we heard about the installment of a traffic light but 36 far there has been a lot of meetings and talk but no action. Yes, there is a stop sign on Quadra Street but it is hiding between a telephone pole and a lamp post, which makes it hard, especially for out-of-town visitors, to see without radar equipment on their cars. I mean no offence in this but I want to express my opinion as a Canadian citizen is supposed to do.

PROMISE of American aid to Indo-China—just made by the State Department—could solve the United States into another political tangle as aggravated as the Greek troubles in 1947.

Chinese-Communist troops are perched on the mountainous north border of Indo-China. And world statesmen fear that if Indo-China falls under the shadow of Moscow, India and Indonesia will come under Red pressure next. So little Indo-China seeks to have been chosen as the holding point, much as Greece was chosen in the Mediterranean. Until recently Indo-China was a French dependency. Now it has semi-independence, and has been broken into three small countries: Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos. Viet Nam is the most important, and it is there that the guerrilla warfare between native Reds and a combination of French troops and native Vietnamese is being fought the most violently.

There are about 23,000,000 Vietnamese who live in an area about the size of Manitoba. Together the three countries form that sort of fat peninsula which hangs down from China toward Indonesia.

Both political and military troubles will plague the American advisers who are, even now, flying to Saigon to see what can be done.

Bao Dai, provisional ruler, has an army of some 50,000, many of them drawn from somewhat uncertain factions, and he is supported by French troops of 130,000. Military equipment is old, and troops are supported by less than 100 fighter planes.

Bao Dai is opposed by a Communist-led army, headed by Ho Chi Minh, an old revolutionary educated in Moscow. He hides out in a mountain capital, supported by an army of about 60,000 trained men and as many irregulars.

Reports from the area say many Frenchmen are tired of the fracas, and there is a growing movement to go home.

The West's job will be to rally the Vietnamese around Bao Dai, and to avoid the serious pitfall of appearing to support colonialism in Asia, where so many millions have only recently shaken off the yoke of foreign rulers.

FACILITIES IMPROVED

Hospitalization is covered by all health insurance schemes around the world. And almost everywhere, the shortage of hospital beds is a limiting factor. But experience in every country has shown that the inauguration of health insurance acts as a spur to hospital expansion. In most countries the insurance program accelerated hospital construction and improvement of facilities and services.

From Vienna, we have a report that a comparison has been made between the paintings and other works of surrealists and mental patients suffering from split personality. It was under the auspices of the dignified Psychological Institute of Vienna University. Thirty paintings, half the work of surrealists and abstract painters and the other half the products of mental patients, were submitted to an audience of 158. The audience could not distinguish between the works of the artists and those of the mentally afflicted. Do we hear the echo from a million divided households: "I told you so!"

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"PEOPLE," said the Elevator Man, "have a varying attitude toward old age. Up to a point they try to hide it, but after that they try to exaggerate it. It becomes something to boast about. It's considered an achievement, and rightly so. A fellow of 60 doesn't say much about his age. A fellow of 70 may give it a mention now and then. A fellow of 80 may start off most of his remarks with some reference to the fact. And from then on each year is added like a well-earned medal. A real old-timer can become a community's prize exhibit. Every year on his birthday he's asked how he does it, and he answers either that he never smokes or drinks, or that he smokes and drinks all he wants. Going up!

"With women," said the Elevator Man, "it's a little different. They take control of their ages right from the start. At 16 a girl likes to pretend she's 20. At 25 she is still trying to be 20. At 30 she'll settle for 25, and at 40 she thinks 30 looks pretty good. At 50 she may claim 45 or even admit the truth. At 60 she may still hanker for 50, but after that the emphasis switches. At 65 she'll likely claim 70, and if she reaches 80 she may start a rumor that she's 90. From then on it's anybody's guess, and who's to complain about it, give or take a few years? Going down!

"That African woman," said the Elevator Man, "who died near Johannesburg the other day, no doubt ran through the whole cycle. She was said to be 149 years old, and doctors say it was 'probably correct.' There can't be many former subjects of George III still around. But age is something like chocolate cake. You'd like to get all you can of it, but without its ill effects."

Narcissi Bulbs Require Attention Each Season

By JACK G. BEASTALL.

The treatment accorded your Narcissi from now until they mature will determine the flowers you will have next year.

Home gardeners will often tell me of the excellent blooms on new bulbs the first season after planting and how the flowers have declined in succeeding years.

This is because that first bloom was formed in the bulb while it was still growing under the ideal conditions in the commercial field.

In the garden the conditions were not suitable to the formation of good flowers, as the bulbs were neglected when they finished blooming, resulting in the poorer quality.

WOMAN 'COP'S' LEGS BROKEN

GREENSBORO, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Adeline Kuhns, 24, happened on the scene of a minor highway collision while driving near here Sunday. She decided to help by directing traffic.

Within a few minutes the battered autos at the scene had increased from two to four. And Mrs. Kuhns was on her way to hospital with fractures of both legs.

Police vindicated the would-be lady cop, however. They arrested the masculine drivers of all four cars.

valuable size. Only the small planting stock is left down for two years.

Now, it is possible that you have a clump of narcissi in the garden which have remained for many years. These will have put up a mass of narrow leaves, referred to as "grass," and few, if any, flowers.

In such cases, the original bulb has made dozens of offsets, which are flat in appearance and called "slabs." Only the round bulbs bear flowers, and these slabs are bunched together without room to develop.

By digging the bunches in the fall, separating each slab and replanting, rounds may be obtained in one season.

To consider your narcissi as finished is disastrous. Cultivation, weeding and watering must be maintained. To give the border a neat appearance the tops may be loosely knotted after they start turning yellow. Never cut off the foliage; it is needed to feed the bulb. When maturing is completed, the tops will pull away quite easily.

Carolinan Rejects All Efforts To Stop Ticking In Both His Ears

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sankey Flynn of Greensboro has finally reconciled himself to double objective tinnitus aurium.

This means that Sankey's ears can go on ticking audibly twice a second for the rest of his life and he won't care. As a matter of fact, he now hopes that what ever makes with the clocks in his head won't ever get wound down.

"I'd feel lost without it," he explains. "Listen."

You stand up close to Sankey's right ear. Tick-tick, tick-tick, tick-tick, tick-tick. You move over to the left ear. Tick-tick, tick-tick, tick-tick.

Then you look for the watch strapped under his hair, only he hasn't much hair, and no watch.

Children who will be entering Grade 1 or Kindergarten for the first time next September should be enrolled as follows: Place of registration: Any elementary school (preferably one nearest to home). Time: 3 to 4 p.m., May 29th to June 2nd, inclusive.

And then you wake up to the fact the ticking in Sankey's ears isn't exactly funny. Sankey is reputed to be the only man on earth with two ticking ears, which makes it a serious business.

And that's the way Sankey takes it — seriously. "I've had some docs who wanted to operate on my ears," he says, "but I wouldn't let them."

"I'd miss it," he says. "You listen to your ears tick all your life and you get used to it. Besides that, it's my one claim to fame."

still don't know what it is, so they want to send me to Johns Hopkins (medical centre in Baltimore); they want to send me to Chicago, but I don't go. I don't want anything to happen to these ears. Look at them, listen to them, but leave them alone."

Montreal Roller Skaters Rushed From Burning Rink

MONTREAL (CP)—Quick evacuation of roller-skating young people from the old Montreal Coliseum prevented casualties Sunday night as the rickety wooden structure went up in flames, fire department officials reported here.

Scores of youngsters were skating in the building when the fire broke out and roared unchecked through the structure's tinder-dry wood.

Fire equipment and ambulances were rushed from various parts of the city to the scene of the blaze. It was difficult to determine for some time whether anyone had been trapped because thousands of Montrealers took advantage of the warm evening to jam into the streets around the Coliseum located on Guy Street below Dorchester in West-Central Montreal.

Human Rights... Personal Pleasure

YOUR PERSONAL FREEDOM IS AT STAKE

AT LAST—

At last the voters in Victoria, in response to a petition, signed by thousands of citizens in all walks of life, are to be given the opportunity to vote into reality something which has been denied them for years past—the personal right of freedom to purchase a glass of beer on licensed premises under government control, if and when it pleases them.

AT LAST—

At last all citizens of Victoria of the full age of 21 years are given the opportunity to out-vote the well-meaning but impractical powers of partial prohibition which have been tried and found wanting.

At last, we all have our chance to forge ahead with a greater Victoria—with better hotels—great expenditure of money, putting more money into circulation—better tourist accommodation, holding them longer—more permanent jobs for Victoria citizens, reducing unemployment—more business for everybody and a better satisfied citizenship.

AT LAST—

At last you can reduce excessive drinking behind closed doors in hotel rooms, rooming houses and like places: a condition which never should have existed. At last you can bring into being a state where people are no longer prohibited, but are on their honor and trusted as to personal behaviour. At last you are in a position to "Vote out the old, vote in the new: and to do to others as you would that they should do unto you."

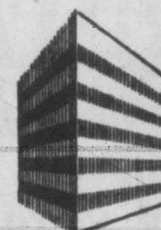

AT LAST—

At last, if it pleases you, it will be your right to purchase legitimately at will a nice cool refreshing, foaming glass of beer (with a touch of salt) on hot summer days, in a cool and congenial, well-appointed atmosphere—where no man can say ye nay. You can take it or leave it, according to your own free will.

Let everybody move in on the voting booths Tuesday, May 30th, and mark your ballot "yes" for your neighbor's sake and your own sake.

Mrs. S. Neelands Dies Here At 93

Last rites for Mrs. Sarah Jane Neelands, 93, were conducted by Rev. W. W. McPherson Saturday from McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel.

A resident of Victoria for 58 years, Mrs. Neelands died at her home, 2070 Oak Bay Avenue, Friday.

Born in Kenilworth, Ont., she came to the city in 1891 and had lived here since, except for year's residence in Nanaimo.

Her husband, E. H. Neelands, predeceased her in 1938. Mrs. Neelands had been a member of Oak Bay United Church for several years.

Two details of the "dry squad" seized 28 bottles of liquor and 15 bottles of beer during the raids. Eighteen persons were told they may be summoned for possessing liquor in a public place.

Three bottles of liquor were seized at the Panorama Roof. The raids marked the first drive on cabaret drinking in 15 months. In previous raids, persons whose names were taken by police have been fined $50 apiece under the Government Liquor Act.

Sandy Desantis, owner of the Palomar Supper Club, said police "searched under all the tables in his club. They got some bottles," he added.

He said the raid held up the regular performance of the Ink Spots male quartette.

ANCIENT BELIEF

Tradition Of Holy Shroud Backed By Tests

VATICAN CITY (Reuter)—Experiments by German medical students who "crucified" themselves to study the exact cause of Christ's death have brought new evidence to support the claim the Holy Shroud preserved for centuries in Turin is the cloth in which the body of Christ was wrapped for burial.

The evidence was among a new weight of material sifted by a recent congress of 18 international scientists in Rome.

Venerated since the Middle Ages as the cloth in which Joseph of Arimathea wrapped the body of Christ, the Holy Shroud bears the distinct outline of a body, bearing wounds in the wrists and feet and the marks of scourging and thorns.

Dr. Hermann Moedder told the congress medical knowledge excludes hunger, thirst, infection or loss of blood as causes of death in crucifixion.

The only possible causes left were asphyxia caused by failure of respiration due to cramp of the muscles, or failure of the heart action due to the sinking of the blood into the lower part of the body.

To test possibilities, Moedder and six colleagues tied themselves, hanging by the wrists, to an iron bar, at first without any support for the feet. Each of them fainted in less than 12 minutes.

The name of the British Royal Family was changed to Windsor by proclamation on July 17, 1917.

The Nile River irrigates more than 5,400,000 acres in Egypt.

The first is beamed at the British housewife.

Labour's new deal will mean lower prices for fruit, vegetables and fish, which now are largely free of price control. This is part of their chief plan for attempting to show that Socialism can mean a shilling in the purse as well as a grandiose plan for public ownership of industry.

Plans once laid for state control of food distribution have been shelved, however. In its place will come a plan to shake up the distribution system and try to reduce the wide spread between farm prices and store prices. A system of municipal markets, based on the grower-consumer idea, is likely to be advocated.

The second decision is to shelve plans for more excursions into public ownership of industry. Hopes of proceeding swiftly with state ownership or direction of such enterprises as sugar refining, cement making, chemicals and shipbuilding have been laid aside, at least temporarily.

The iron and steel industry, for which Parliament already has approved state ownership, will be taken over on schedule next year.

But from now on, the government intends to concentrate on making the state-owned industries work more efficiently so they can turn out more goods at lower cost.

Some Conservative newspapers already are speculating that an election may come as soon as this summer.

Red Protest

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist organ, Rude Pravo, today sharply criticized the "bureaucratic" procedure of a housing office which ordered a husband to fill out an application as a lodger before he could move into his wife's one room flat.

WARNS AGAINST Beer Parlors

For forty-two years I have been regularly coming to Victoria for business and pleasure purposes and have now come to make my home here, for this is the finest city I know in Canada or anywhere else. Its climate, natural beauty, and its friendly, wholesome citizens make a strong appeal to me. Victoria with its quiet dignity is different from other cities. I believe the introduction of beer parlors would mar its charm, and I give some of my reasons for thinking so, in the hope that an emphatic "No" will be recorded by the voters tomorrow.

I remember the days of the saloons on Government Street in 1908, and in various other parts of this province at that time. I also know the sights and atmosphere at the closing time of beer parlors in other places I have lived. So far as I can see the beer parlor drunks of 1950 are the same kind of objectionable specimens as the saloon drunks of 1908, only now they are worse because of the girls and women amongst them. Also the general situation is more serious because there were few automobiles on our streets in 1908.

I remember the Pioneer Square district of Seattle in 1908, with its rough, tough saloons and frequent fights. Recently I was in Seattle and went as far south as San Diego. Things seem more orderly now and police control more effective than in the early days.

I am satisfied that total prohibition is not the answer to the tragic liquor problem; but going to the other extreme, by making liquor so easily available as is the general practice now in the United States, is not the answer either as the use of alcoholic liquor as a beverage with all its attendant evils is greatly on the increase over there.

It has been my privilege to serve overseas as a Canadian soldier in three wars, so I know many countries as well as most of Canada and the United States. As I look back through the years I think of those among my front line wartime pals—splendid men, who became human wrecks because liquor mastered them. Nowhere in the army, or in civilian life, have I seen anything which would bear out the claim of the liquor interests here that beer parlors would make Victoria a better place in which to live. Very few tourists come here to drink beer and those who do can quite legally obtain it.

For those, and other reasons I could give, I urge all those who love Victoria, and want to keep it the orderly, beautiful place it now is, to turn out and vote "No" tomorrow, May 30th.

Captures Colonial Tourney With 277; Ed Oliver Fourth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., raised his season's money-winning to $20,728 today with his first victory in the Colonial invitation golf tournament.

Sneed scrambled over the Colonial Country Club course in three-over-par 73 yesterday to win the tournament with a 72-hole score of 277 strokes. The victory added $3,000 to his earnings, which are high for the season on the pro circuit.

The West Virginia slammer finished three strokes ahead of Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., who shot a 70 for a three-day total of 280 strokes.

Ben Hogan, playing on his home course, finished in a tie for third place with E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Andrews, Ill., at 282. Hogan fired a 70 and Harrison a 72 in the final round. It was the first time in five tournaments that Hogan had finished below second place. He won the event in 1946 and 1947.

In fourth place at 283 came Ed Oliver of Seattle, Wash., and Cary Middlecott of Ormond Beach, Fla.

Bolero Sets World Record In Sprint Win

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Taking command in the stretch, Bolero set a six-furlong world record of 1:08 1/5 Saturday in winning the $10,000-added Pacific Handicap at Golden Gate.

The former record was 1:08 2/5, set here Oct. 4, 1947, by Fair Trickle and equalled last May 17 by Roman In.

Roman In ran second after getting off to a slow start. Blue Border was third.

Bolero, owned by Abraham Mischberg of San Francisco, packed high weight of 122 pounds and was ridden by veteran John Longden, Taber, Alta., native. He won by three lengths.

Paul Pettit Gets $100,000 Arm Examined

BALTIMORE (AP)—Paul Pettit, the Pittsburgh Pirates bonus baby, checked in at a Baltimore Hotel today, preliminary to an examination by a specialist of his ailing, $100,000 left arm.

The 18-year-old California southpaw, under option to New Orleans Pelicans, had to leave the mound in the first inning of a game a week ago when a sharp pain in his pitching arm prevented him from delivering a fast ball.

He said his arm "feels good." He's been hurting a few since the injury developed, he said, but "not hard—just to loosen it up."

Pettit will see Dr. George Bennett of the Johns Hopkins Hospital staff at the doctor's office. Dr. Bennett has been consulted by numerous ball players, including Joe DiMaggio, for various injuries.

ATHLETICS PLAY GAME WITHOUT MACK ON HAND

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics played an American League baseball game yesterday without a Mack at the helm for the first time in 20 years.

Connie Mack left Shibe Park after his A's lost the first game of a doubleheader to New York Yankees. The new assistant manager, Jimmy Dykes, led the club to an uphill 6 to 5 victory over the league-leading Yanks in the nightcap.

Baseball experts looked back into the records to find that not since Eddie Collins and Kid Gleason used to sit in occasionally for Connie Mack has an Athletic team taken the field without a Mack in the dugout directing action. Either Connie or his son, Earle, ran the team. But Earle was made chief scout Friday when the board of directors shook up the club's high command.

Now fans are asking the old question. Is the 87-year-old Connie in his last season at the helm of his beloved Athletics?

Hustling Phillies Hurdle Brooklyn

Regain National League Lead; Yankees, Win, Lose

Make one mistake against those hustlin', fightin' Phillies and it's your finish.

Ask the harried Leo Durocher or any of his luckless New York Giants. They'll tell you they should have won all four week-end games from Eddie Sawyer's boys. But Philadelphia won three to New York's one.

As a result, the Phillies wrested the National League leadership from Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Phils divided a pair with the Giants Sunday while Boston was beating the Brooks 4 to 1 to take possession of first place by a half a game.

The Phils won yesterday's 11-inning 5 to 2 opener because they were quick to take advantage of a lapse by the opposition. The Giants won the nightcap 3 to 1 to end a seven-game losing skid.

An error by outfielder Don Mueller set up the Phils' winning runs. The score was tied 2 to 2 as the Phils came to bat in the 11th inning. Dick Sisler walked, and when Dick Whitman singled to right, Mueller let the ball get away from him and Sisler scored the winning run.

Detroit shaved the New York Yankees' American League lead to two games by whipping St. Louis Browns 6 to 2 and 2 to 1, while Philadelphia Athletics were halving a twin bill with the Yanks. The A's came up with four runs in their final inning to win the second game 6 to 5 after New York had won the opener 6 to 3.

BOSTON SLIPS

Washington shoved Boston into third place in the American League with a 7 to 6 triumph over the Red Sox. Cleveland and Chicago swapped shutouts, Steve Gromek blanking the White Sox 7 to 0 after Bill Wight had stifled the Indians 2 to 0 in the opener.

Chicago Cubs took both ends of a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 6 to 0 and 5 to 1, to sweep their four-game National League series. The third-place St. Louis Cardinals whipped Cincinnati Reds 6 to 2 and 7 to 2 to climb within 1 1/2 games of the top.

The home run played a big role for the Cards. After four batters by Tommy Glaviano and Enos Slaughter had been instrumental in winning the opener for St. Louis, catcher Joe Garagiola hit a grand-slam homer off Ewell Blackwell in the first inning. Southpaws Al Brazle and Max Lanier each won his third game for St. Louis.

Chicago pitchers Johnny Schmitz and Bob Rush turned in mound jobs, holding the punchless Pirates to one run in 18 innings.

HURIS FIVE-HITTER

Warren Spahn and Bob Elliott combined their talents to down the Dodgers. Spahn permitted only five hits for his sixth victory. Elliott drove in all four Boston runs with a home run and two singles.

Fred Hutchinson and Dizzy Trout pitched the Tigers to their

Glenlyon School Title To Simpson

Hamish Simpson Saturday won the open track and field championship at the annual Glenlyon Preparatory School sports day, compiling 11 points to seven for runner-up Peter Dave. He was awarded the Macdonnell Cup.

David Ulrich nosed out Rob Denny, 13 points to 12 to win the intermediate championship and the Pickles trophy.

The junior championship and Martin Cup went to Burke Cuppage with a 14-point total. Cue House captain by Peter Dave won the house relay.

Prizes were presented by H. B. Witter.

McGill Proves Sheridan Didn't Toss Away $17,500

TORONTO (CP)—The experts figured Vince Sheridan, wealthy Toronto horseman, was "held up" this spring when he paid $17,500 for McGill, bay-coated son of Bunt Lawless and Tinted Chick.

But the gamble paid off Saturday when the shining black colt thundered to victory by a whisker in the 91st running of the King's Plate.

"I'd have been a bum if he didn't come through," the cigar-smoking Sheridan said in an interview shortly after his expensive three-year-old, given a million-dollar ride by Jockey Chris Rogers, won the $15,000-added purse and the King's 50 guineas. He outlasted E. P. Richards' Sir Strome to take Canada's biggest race by a nose over the nine-furlong distance.

Two lengths in the rear was Unionville, owned by Carr Hatch of Toronto, and Medalofredom, stablemate of Sir Strome, was

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

Did you ever wonder what goes on in the press box at Athletic Park, now that the leak in the public address system has been fixed and all those spicy little interludes have been discarded as not coming under the price of admission?

Well, things are just about the same as they've always been. The topic is always baseball but the tone sometimes is altered.

Take the first game of the May 24 doubleheader with Yakima Bears for example. Present are three sportswriters, one Canadian National Telegraph operator, a young boy, the boy's mother (both guests), and a ball boy employed by the baseball company.

The conversation goes something like this: PETE SALLAWAY (Times Sports Editor), as Athletics bat around in first inning—"The club's showing a lot of hustle today."

JIM TANG (Colonist Sports Editor)—"Yeh. It looks like two straight. Jim (Propst) should be able to hold this lead."

TELEGRAPH OPERATOR—"Got your garden planted yet?"

SMALL BOY—"Mom, can I have some more popcorn?" BOY'S MOTHER—"No. You've had enough. You'll spoil your supper."

BALL BOY (as foul ball hits on grandstand roof)—"It bounced over the screen."

Athletics Take Big Lead

TANG—"Everything's working for us today. It hasn't been up to now."

SALLAWAY (who doubles as P.A. announcer)—"Please turn to page . . . blah, blah . . . Jim's pretty sharp today."

TANG—"He's that much better at night. The sunlight slows up that fast ball. I'm a night ball fan now. How about you?"

THIRD WRITER—"Not me. On a hot day give me a baseball game. Look at the crowd today. It's the best day of the year. People bring the kids out in the sun."

SMALL BOY—"Mom, I want some pop."

BOY'S MOTHER—"Go get some money from your dad." In undertone, "I hope he gets enough for a drink for me, too."

TELEGRAPH OPERATOR—"Have any trouble with Morning Glory weed at your place?"

THIRD WRITER—"Sure do. I pull it up one day and it's back the next."

Propst Loses His Stuff

SALLAWAY (as count reaches two balls on batter)—"He (Propst) is getting wild. . . rest unprintable."

TANG—"Our lead should hold up."

BOY'S MOTHER—"That'll fix it. Keep quiet, Jimmy."

SMALL BOY—"How long do we have to stay here? I want to go home."

BOY'S MOTHER—"You'll stay here till the game's over. Leave those peanuts alone. If you eat another one you'll go without your supper."

SALLAWAY (as batter walks)—"Get someone warmed up, or we'll lose this."

THIRD WRITER—"Any peach curl in your trees?"

TELEGRAPH OPERATOR—"How many left on base? Two? No, not much since I started spraying my trees."

SMALL BOY—"Can I have some more pop, Mom?"

TANG (as batter reaches second base)—"Hit and error. Boot to the shortstop for the throw."

SALLAWAY—"It's about time. Somebody's warming up."

BALL BOY (as time for management to bounce approaches)—"What'll you have? Hot dog and coffee, or coke?"

Nerves Strained As Tension Mounts

SMALL BOY—"Can I have some pop, Mom?"

SALLAWAY—"That does it. Get him (pitcher) out of there before it's too late."

TANG—"Looks like a two-game win streak. Kronberg has added some life to the team."

SALLAWAY—"Yeh. I wonder who is going for us tonight? Who? Smith? He's got more guts than anyone else on the staff."

TANG (as Wilkie applies clincher with two-run single)—"That should do it. We're on our way now. The ball club looks better, don't you think?"

SMALL BOY—"Can we go home now, Mom?"

BOY'S MOTHER—"Oh, all right. I've had enough. The game's almost over anyway. Next time you come, your father can look after you. Put that popcorn down."

United-Heaneys Capture Cup Football Matches

Victoria United and Heaneys McGee with two counters and registered triumphs in first round Province Cup matches run off Saturday afternoon at MacDonald Park. United knocked off Esquimalt 6 to 4 while Heaneys eliminated the city champion Victoria West 1 to 0 in overtime.

Semi-finals of the local competition will see United go up against the winner of the Canadian Legion-Oak Bay match and Heaneys engage Duncan Indians.

Strong wind hampered the clubs in Saturday's games and the calibre of soccer was far below standard.

Playing with the wind United grabbed a 4 to 1 first-half lead and never looked back. Denny

Colwood Pair Win Golf Brooches

Mrs. H. T. Matson and Elizabeth Paynter of Colwood Golf Club won the E. D. Todd Ladies' Brooch from the defenders, Mrs. J. H. Todd and Mrs. C. E. Harris of Victoria Club, 6 and 5.

Miss Paynter toured the 13 holes in one over par. She was one over on the outgoing nine and with a birdie and bogey and two pars was even for the final four holes.

Receives King's Plate Trophy

Vince Sheridan, Toronto, left, owner of McGill, which romped home well in front to win the 91st running of the King's Plate at Woodbine track Saturday, is presented with the cup and the King's 50 guineas by Viscount Alexander, Canada's Governor-General. Next to the owner is Chris Rogers, who rode McGill, and trainer Pete Keiser.

Baumholtz's Hit Streak Ended After 33 Games

Frankie Baumholtz's hitting streak is over, San Diego still leads Hollywood by two games and the Oakland A's are up in third place as Coast League teams rest up today in preparation for the Memorial Day program.

Baumholtz, the rosy-jawed Los Angeles outfielder, had hit safely in 33 successive games, but Mr. Japhet (Red) Lynn of Portland handcuffed him in the second half of Sunday's doubleheader.

Lynn, a former Angel, by the way, set his old buddies down with four hits in the seven-inning affair as the Beavers won, 9 to 0. Joe Brovia, the home run hitting guy in the league, came up with a grand slam to highlight Portland's seven-run fifth inning.

Los Angeles won the first game, 4 to 2. At San Diego, the Padres and the Hollywoods also divided a twin bill, giving Hollywood four of the seven games.

At San Francisco, the Seals reared up and smote Seattle twice, 12 to 6 and 8 to 7. San Francisco had captured only one of the previous five games with the rebounding Rainiers, and yesterday's victories were achieved with a vengeance.

At Sacramento, the Oaks ran amok with 24 hits in the second game to smother the Solons, 18 to 9. Bib Max Surkont won the seven-inning opener for Sacramento, 4 to 2, notching his 10th.

Marshall Back Tonight Against Vancouver Caps

John Marshall will be back tonight. After being sidelined for over a week with an ankle injury the big right-hander of the Victoria Athletics will take the mound for the opening clash of an eight-game series against Vancouver Capilanos. Marshall will be gunning for his fourth victory. Clubs play a doubleheader Tuesday night, following which they move over to Vancouver for the remainder of the week.

An added highlight at Athletic Park tonight will be the appearance of Max Patkin, famous baseball clown.

Athletics closed out their series with Spokane Saturday by splitting. After looking bad in dropping the afternoon tilt 14 to 8 the Victoria club bounced back to take the night affair 14 to 1 behind the three-hit twirling of little southpaw Jim Propst.

After being in trouble twice in the early innings Propst settled down and was deadly the remainder of the way as he held the Indians to a pair of scratch singles and a double by Eddie Murphy. Propst struck out seven and walked eight. Spokane got its only run in the second inning when Murphy and Israel drew walks and the former stole third and scored on an outfield out.

Meanwhile, the Athletics led by shortstop Billy Dunn fashioned a 16-hit attack against Jim Neeley and were in front 12 to 1 after five frames. Dunn, who enjoyed his best day at the plate this season, picked up four for five including a home run and two doubles. In the afternoon he had two for two: His RBI total for the two games was six.

K Chorlton also contribute a home run in the evening slaughter. Propst helped his own cause with two singles and a double in five trips to the plate. Athletics just didn't have it in

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Flynn Says Bride-To-Be Boss For While, At Least

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(AP) — Errol Flynn says his bride-to-be, Princess Irene Ghika, will be the boss of the family — "at first, anyway."

Starting work on a new picture, the famed swashbuckler announced he will marry the Romanian noblewoman in September in Paris. "At least she's making plans to get married then," he said.

So she'll be the boss of the family?

Flynn laughed: "Sure, women have to be boss—at first, anyway."

He added: "The Romanians have a good custom. The girls bring their husbands a dot (dowry). She'll sign over all her insurance papers and so forth to me."

The pair will live in Hollywood, but Flynn has no plans to build a new house. "She likes the one I have," he said. "And she is just crazy about Hollywood. She has never been here before and she thinks the place is fabulous. 'I've tried to warn her about the pitfalls, but she just shrugs her shoulders. She doesn't scare easily.'"

But does she understand the meaning of "Pitfalls"? "Oh, yes, she looked it up in her Romanian-French dictionary."

He said he met his fiancée at a party in Paris about 1½ years ago. "She was sitting alone in a dark corner when I spotted her," he related. "It was a very normal meeting. It wasn't love at first sight or anything like that."

CAPSULE REVIEWS

"In a Lonely Place" (Columbia) shows Humphrey Bogart as a movie writer with a split personality. Some days he's happy as a lark and others he goes around slugging people. This provides rather gloomy entertainment, but it is absorbing most of the time. At any rate, it's unpredictable. Gloria Grahame plays the girl who tries to figure Bogart out, and she again impresses as one of the better young actresses.

"The Golden Twenties" (March of Time) is an extensive treatment of that era of wonderful nonsense. It should prove fascinating to the younger set and will bring back painful and pleasant memories to their elders.

FINGERPRINTS DON'T LIE

THE STORY: After Azalea Palmer found her wealthy father with his skull crushed by a desk telephone in his library, police learn that her fiancé, the sculptor Paul Moody, had been in disfavor with the murder victim. Detective Pete Kelso also has found witnesses who saw Moody virtually forcing his way into the Palmer home a short time before the murder was discovered.

VII

The detective Pete Kelso, gray amiable now, he asked the woman who had seen Paul Moody visit the Palmer residence: "Did you see him—Mr. Moody—come out of the house again?"

"No, I didn't," the woman regretted. "I admit I was interested; but the telephone rang just then, and it was a friend of mine, and she's one of those gossips—if you know what I mean. She just ran on and on and ON! When she finished finally, I had to go and lay down, if you—"

"I know just what you mean," said Kelso. "Your name and address, please!" When he had recorded them, he again addressed his little public.

"Did anybody see this man Moody come out of the house?" There was a general murmur of negation and a shaking of regretful heads. The lives of most of the little throng were so drab and dull that they did not know their luck, did not value the happiness of obscurity. They would have been glad and proud of even such a crumb of fame as comes to a casual witness of some detail in the chronicle of a crime.

URGES ACTION

Kelso hurried into the house, sought out Detective Dorton, and told him of the recognition of Paul Moody by a number of people. Then he suggested that, in view of Moody's known quarrel with the dead man, he ought to be looked into before he could make a getaway.

Dorton was without a hint of anyone else to suspect, and he went into the living-room for a word with Fleming, Fleming had already had Paul Moody's name forced into his suspicions and he was ripe for persuasion. He thought that it would be the right thing for someone to make haste to Moody's home, pick him up and take him to headquarters for questioning.

At his suggestion, Dorton telephoned his chief and told what Kelso had learned. He strengthened the case against Paul Moody as he repeated it.

Kelso took the telephone from Dorton and suggested to the chief that it might be a good idea to send the SID fingerprint man along with him to pick up any prints Moody might have left about his studio—just in case Moody had already taken a "run-out powder."

It had been so long since the chief had been able to approve any of Kelso's actions that it gave him pleasure to say: "Good idea, Kelso! Good work! Go to it and nab Moody if he shows. And take along your fingerprint collector. Looks like quite a thing we all got here. I want to clean it up quick and hush some of these mugs that are always saying we never catch anybody. Step on it!"

When Dorton and Fleming returned to the multitudinous details of their multitudinous tasks, they paused to tell James Stivers of his new assignment.

NUMEROUS PRINTS

He had made a large harvest of prints and he was ready to call it a day. When he returned from telephoning to his own chief, reporting what he had gleaned, and asking permission to go on to Moody's studio, he swept a last look about the room, and his eyes fell on the figure still lying outstretched and supine on the floor with the palms outspread like a beggar's.

The fingers seemed to be almost asking to be printed. So he knelt on the rug and, with grudge, some calm, twisted the wrists, brushed the ink roller over the chill fingertips, then rolled them on a card just as he had done with the warm, young, supple hands of Azalea Palmer and Nadine Fenell.

He was ready now to leave the house and when he had repacked all his gleanings and his tools, he joined Kelso in a police car for the visitation to Moody's studio. Kelso did most of the talking and asked many questions about fingerprint identification and the possibilities of theft or substitution.

Stivers told him of the elaborate precautions built up and taken to make certain that no such thing could happen.

"Of course, it could happen, I suppose. Everything human is full of flaws, and what one man is clever enough to think up as a way of safekeeping, another man may be clever enough to find a way to get around. That's the trouble with what they call burglar-proof safes. As long as you have to build a safe that the banker can get into when he wants to, you've got to build it so that a burglar can get into it, too, while nobody is looking.

WHY INTERESTED

"So I suppose somebody could just possibly get around the safe-guards we use, but he'd have to be pretty slick to manage it. Why are you so interested all of a sudden? Were you thinking of trying it?"

Kelso answered that one with a burly laugh of ridicule and some heavy-handed compliments for Stivers' skill and watchfulness. The praise was too crude to swell the head of Stivers; but it did abate a little of his hostility to Kelso and increase his interest in obtaining a good supply of fingerprints from Moody's studio in case the man himself failed to appear.

In fact, Stivers was already convinced he would find evidence of Moody's flight as well as of his crime.

Stage Star In Poland Receives Twice Pay Of Cabinet Minister

Daniel de Luce, Pulitzer-prize-winning foreign reporter of the Associated Press, has just returned to his post in Berlin after a week's visit behind the Iron Curtain in Poland. Here is a summary of his observations:

By DANIEL DE LUCE
WARSAW (AP)—A gorgeous blonde on the Warsaw stage is worth her weight in zlotys—100,000 a month, to be exact.

Poland—People's Poland, the Communists dub it—makes a great to-do of abolishing all classes except the proletariat.

BIG GAP

Somewhat, though, there's still a gulf between Tilly, the typist, with her humdrum job in a state-owned trust, and the dazzling first lady of a state-owned theatre.

A stage star, drawing a monthly pay cheque of 100,000 zlotys (about $275) for infusing drama with socialist significance, is twice as well paid as a cabinet minister ($137). She's also five times richer than Tilly ($55).

One million Polish women, more or less like Tilly, belong to Poland's Communist-controlled trade unions, although most of them aren't Communists.

Counting men, these unions total 3,500,000 members. Like unions in Russia, they never strike against their chief employer, the state.

Three tiny strikes occurred in all of Poland last year. Strangely enough, they were directed in each case by the Communist Agricultural Workers' Union against a church state.

Since then, nearly 500,000 acres of church estates have been taken over by the government. Things are so quiet today on the rural labor front that you can hear a dialectic drop.

Everybody, officially, is joyous over working conditions in Poland, even though the government is continually tinkering with the minimum output demanded of an employee.

Officially, there is no exploitation of labor by the state. But something called a "law for socialist work discipline" is making a few million brows sweat.

Another feature of People's Poland is that women are required to assert their "labor equality" with men. As in Russia, this means women become bricklayers, tractor drivers, lathe operators, pick-and-shovelers, and other heavy workers.

MORE NURSERIES

The state is hurriedly constructing more nurseries so that more women can share in labor equality. The program is timely. Poland's birthrate is the highest in 50 years, her marriage rate the highest in history, and her death rate the lower ever.

On the whole, people in Poland have somewhat more to eat and wear this year than last, and national housing and industry are making visible progress. Everybody is hard at work without any false glitter of capitalism.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Mother's Milk Shown Best For New Baby

There is no doubt that the best food for a new-born infant is the mother's milk. When such feeding is possible there is no need to argue the value of other methods. This does not mean, however, that infants cannot grow well and stay healthy if they are fed artificially. Artificial feeding has been carried out successfully many, many times.

It does mean, however, that if one compared a large group of breast-fed infants with a large group of artificially-fed infants, the breast-fed group would gain more and be more healthy on the average than the artificially fed group.

The food needs of infants are great both from the standpoint of quality and quantity. Good modern infant-care includes frequent weighing during the first few months. Any failure to gain weight because of insufficient intake would thus be discovered quickly.

Quality means what kinds of food are given. The starch, fat, protein, and mineral needs are excellently supplied in mother's milk. Even this, however, is frequently supplemented by giving an infant some orange juice and cod liver oil which supply important vitamins. In the artificially fed children, such additional substances besides the milk formula are even more desirable.

DIFFERENT MILK

Cows milk which forms the basis of most artificial feeding formulas is somewhat different from human milk. It contains a larger amount of protein, a smaller amount of sugar, and there are some less important differences.

When artificial feedings are necessary, however, cow's milk, to which is added sugar in some form, serves as the basis of the formula. Protein in the form of strained meats has been reported to be valuable for infants in preventing anemia.

The greatest gain in weight is during the first six months when the average infant doubles its birthweight. During the second half of the first year the weight gain slows down and weaning or removal from bottle feeding is begun.

If a grown-up who weighed 150 pounds gained weight as fast as a new-born infant, he would weigh 300 pounds in six months and 450 pounds in a year. The need for food during the first year of life is obvious.

MILK IS IMPORTANT

Milk continues to make up a large part of the food during the first year but pureed vegetables, mashed bananas, egg yolk and perhaps other foods are as a rule gradually added to the diet during this period.

At no other time after birth is growth so rapid as during the first year. Consequently, at no other time is it so important to maintain a satisfactory diet at all times.

Panama was under Spanish rule from 1538 until 1821, when it became independent.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"Please criticize the bidding on of this hand," asks a San Francisco reader. "South thinks that North overbid. He thinks that North should have bid only two spades, or perhaps two no trump."

"North thinks that his bid of three spades was correct. He also thinks that South should have made the contract, although he doesn't see exactly how."

"In the play, West opened the seven of hearts, dummy played low, and East won with the jack. East returned a club, and dummy won with the king. South then drew three rounds of trumps and knocked out the ace of diamonds.

"At this point West led another heart, allowing East to take the queen. East then laid down the ace of hearts, and South was in trouble. If he ruffed with his last trump, he would have to lead to dummy and would never be able to get out of dummy. Dummy would eventually lose two club tricks, and declarer would therefore be set two tricks. If South failed to ruff the ace of hearts he would be set automatically, since the defense had already taken three tricks.

"Should North and South have bid four spades? If so, how should South have played it?"

SOUND BIDDING

The bidding was quite sound. It would have been a sad mistake for North to bid two no trump. That would encourage a final contract of three no trump, for which there is no play at all.

South should have made his contract of four spades without much trouble. The vital spot was not to draw trumps so quickly. After winning the second trick with the king of clubs, declarer should have taken only two rounds of trumps, with the king and the ace. Then he should have switched to diamonds, leaving the last trump out.

West would take the ace of diamonds, and return a heart. However, South could ruff the third round of hearts, take dummy's remaining high diamond, and get back to his hand with the trump he had so carefully saved. He would then be in position to cash the jack and ten of diamonds, discarding the losing clubs, from dummy.

Rimouski Reminds Of Bombed Areas

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP)—Governor-General Alexander Saturday visited the fire-ravaged section of this lower St. Lawrence city and told reporters afterwards in a brief conference that he was reminded of "an English town after an air bombing."

The Governor-General, accompanied by Lady Alexander, arrived by air this afternoon at nearby Mont Joli, and visited the western section of the city where May 6 a high wind fanned a lumber yard fire into a $20,000,000 disaster.

Lord and Lady Alexander visited refugee centres which provide food and clothing for the 2,500 homeless, and both conversed with canteen workers who serve about 1,500 meals daily for those who cannot provide for their needs.

Victor, Capitol Long-Play Recordings Now Released

By TERRY SHAW

Record collectors in the city now can purchase their favorites on RCA Victor's new long-play platters which have finally been released in Canada. The new Canadian Capitol long-play records also arrived last week.

Dealers said they also expect first releases of Mercury and Capitol 45's shortly.

While the writer and others have been discussing the pros and cons of Be-Bop and Dixieland jazz, several worthwhile singles have been turned out.

Newest M.G.M. recordings are Billy Eckstine's "My Destiny" backed by "Roses," and "Why Don't You Love Me" by Hank Williams with "A House With- out Love" on the reverse side.

Stan Kenton's new album, "Innovations in Modern Music," consisting of four 12-inch records is now on sale here on Capitol.

Two versions of "Let's Go To Church Next Sunday" are retailing well at the moment. Perry Como supplies the vocal strains on Victor with "If You Were Only Mine" reversing, while Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakeley harmonize together on Capitol.

DORSEY GOES SCOT

Tommy Dorsey addicts are snapping up his latest RCA Victor job with an old title, "Comin' Thru The Rye." The reverse is "I Hadn't Anyone Till You."

An old favorite beginning to make a comeback in popularity is Tony Martin's version of "Valencia" backed by "I Don't Care If The Sun Don't Shine" (RCA Victor).

Dennis Day's "Mona Lisa" and "A Shovel of Gaiety" on RCA Victor is a well-balanced recording and another worthwhile piece of wax is Tex Beneke and his "Music in the Miller Mood" doing "Java Junction" and "Our Love Story."

Milton Berle on Victor and Salty Holmes on London are vying for top popularity rating with "I Found My Mama." The reverse of the Berle rendition is "I'll Kiwi You a Mwi-Yun Times" and backing the London disk is "Don't shed Your Tears."

Freddy Martin's latest on Victor is "Hoop-Dee-Do" and "On the Outgoing Tide." Jo Stafford has also recorded a snappy version of the latter.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, MAY 29, 1950

By ART STOTT

MAYBE YOU think Victoria's suffering from a Grand National hangover, erecting jump barriers all over the streets. Maybe you think the engineer's department is carrying the steeplechase idea a little too far. Maybe you suspect that the city's trying too hard to be "a little bit of post-war England," with rubble like bomb damage on the roadways. Or maybe you take the whole thing philosophically, look at new paving that's been broken, and reverse the old adage to say that what goes down has to come up.

If you're a car driver you don't like it. You wonder, too, why this kind of work has to be done at this time of the year, just when the tourists are coming to see our city. Makes you feel a little bit like a host when the plumber arrives to fix the living-room radiator the very day he's entertaining.

YOU PICTURE the head man in the city department as a scheming villain whose sole purpose in life is to turn things topsy turvy, a heartless kind of fellow with no regard for your comfort or for appearances. You couldn't be wider of the mark. Cyril Jones, city engineer, bulseye in the target for criticism for this work at this season, is anything but. He's a conscientious, hard-working likeable guy who doesn't want to cause trouble any more than he wants the wise-cracks that are fired his way.

Before you heave any more hunks of broken paving at him and his boys maybe you should hear his side of the story.

PAVING CAN be done best only in warm weather. The asphalt is put on hot and is compacted and rolled before it grows cold. Cyril doesn't explain it this way, but you can get an idea of the process if you figure out the way a woman makes and bakes a cake—and then reverse the process. A woman whips up her batter. The more air she can get into it, the lighter and fluffier the cake. She slides it into the oven, peaks at it periodically and tests it with a straw pulled from a broom. If it rises like a cloud and bakes that way, she's happy. She slips it out from the oven and puts it out to cool.

The asphalt man starts out the same way. He takes his aggregate—that's sand and gravel—and puts it with hot asphalt into a pugmill. A pugmill's roughly like an overgrown mixer. Right there the similarity ends. The paving man doesn't want his "dough" light and fluffy. It has to be well mixed, but his next job is to see that the air is crushed out of it. That's compacting.

IF THE COMPOUND isn't compressed into solid form, if it hardens with air pockets, like a crystallized sponge, and goes on the road that way, water gets into the surface. Frost comes along in the winter, breaks up the compound and the top of the road crumbles away.

Jones explains that this business of compacting can only be efficient when the material is plastic—gooey but not sticky. In the cold weather, it firms too quickly. But the process isn't as slow as some people think. Cars can travel over the new surface 12 hours after it has been laid.

What makes Victoria look so broken up, as far as roads are concerned, at this time is the necessity of preparing the bases for the paving during the summer time. The asphalt firm is a private concern. It works to capacity during the warm weather. Sure, it could be a bigger plant, but apart from the costs of expansion, what would the operators do with their road gangs when the days became too cold for surfacing?

THERE'S A GOOD explanation, too, for another little trick that irks our citizens—this business of putting down a new road and then punching holes in it to make pipe connections. As far as the bigger mains are concerned, the water department and the engineering branch try to work together. Supply pipes are laid whenever possible before paving is done.

It's impossible, though, to control connections from private houses that are built after the surface has been put down. At one time connections were made opposite vacant lots. Sure as shootin', when a citizen built on such a lot, his sewer and water connections were on the opposite side of the property to the point where the connection had been installed.

WHAT MAKES these breaks more obvious, is that they occur so often in new street surfaces. Why? Because when a good street is put in, a lot becomes more attractive as a result of the improvement. A property that has been wild for years is bought and someone builds on it. Up comes the paving to make the connections.

Recreation Not Frill But Need, Says Professor

The necessity of selling recreation to the public was stressed by Dr. Alan Klein, associate professor in the department of social work at the University of Toronto at the opening of the four-day institute on recreational leadership at the Y.M.C.A. today.

Recreation was not just a program for the youth of the community, Dr. Klein said. Neither was it entirely a sports program. "Recreation is not a frill, but more and more a basic need. Why? Because we have more leisure time and don't know what to do with it," the speaker said.

CREATIVE BASIS
It was an all-year-round program which had to be returned to a creative basis, Dr. Klein continued. People had to do things for themselves and not rely upon others.

Recreation was the only field where young persons could learn the true values of democracy, he said.

"We can't teach democracy in a book. The trouble today is there is too much talk about democracy and not enough practice of its principles."

A pride in Canada amongst the nation's youth had to be developed, he urged. If Canadians were not sold on the Canadian way of life there would continue to be a flocking south of the border, he said.

Co-operation was the only way an objective could be reached, Dr. Klein said. No single agency was strong enough to do the job of promoting recreation.

Model Gliders Soar From Starting Base

Two more entries were lost, one being recovered later by Lansdowne Field Model Airplane Club members in Sunday's competition. Alan Payne's large glider is still lost and was last seen high in the clouds over Cedar Hill.

Bill Gelling who usually loses a model, was lucky to get his towline glider back. It was followed by a car and picked up on the beach at Cordova Bay. Alan Payne won the towline glider class and Bill was second.

Andy Rittich made a near-record hand-launch glider flight of three minutes 44 seconds to win first. Brian Ramsey took second.

In the point race, Bill Gelling took three firsts, one second and one third for a total of 36 points. His total is now 77 placing him second in Junior Point competition. Andy Rittich leads the juniors with 93 points. He added 28 points Sunday winning one first, three seconds and a third. Alan Payne is in third place with 60 points.

In senior competition Ian Douglas leads with 65 points, Jack Parks and John McKay hold second and third, respectively. Don Harvey leads the open class and Rod McLeod, last year's winner, holds second position.

Next Sunday members of the model club will adjust and prepare their models for a competition in Vancouver, June 7. Next point meet will be held at Lansdowne field June 25.

Flies Cargo To Hometown

Response is overwhelming, said Winnipeg-born Capt. William May, telling of eagerness of people in Britain to subscribe goods to flood-stricken Manitoba. He came to Victoria to attend funeral of his mother after flying relief cargo across Atlantic.

Britain Keen To Assist In Manitoba Flood Relief

"Response in Britain to the appeal for funds for the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund is overwhelming," said Capt. William May, who piloted the first British strato-cruiser bearing bundles from the United Kingdom to flood-stricken Manitoba Saturday.

Capt. May attended funeral services for his mother, Mrs. May, held at Sands Mortuary this afternoon. He learned of her death as he was about to leave the airport in England with the cargo for Manitoba.

The tall, former Canadian bush pilot looked tired after his long trip from England to Victoria. He flew the relief plane to Manitoba and left immediately Saturday for Victoria to be in time for his mother's funeral.

On his arrival here, he was greeted by his grief-stricken father. He plans to return to England via New York in a few days.

Capt. May said he was now in charge of training for the British Overseas Airways. "I rarely fly a plane now," he said. "Now and again I take over."

Hit-and-Run Driver Guilty On 2 Charges

Patrick Michael O'Hara, 24, 529 Johnson Street, was found guilty of a hit-and-run charge in provincial police court today. To an additional charge of resisting arrest and assault on Const. Mathew R. Godfrey, O'Hara pleaded guilty.

For the first charge O'Hara was fined $35 or 15 days, for the second $50 or 30 days, the two sentences to run concurrently in default of payment.

After evidence had been given on the hit-and-run charge, Saturday, the case was remanded to Monday. When O'Hara failed to produce evidence on his own behalf he was found guilty by the court.

ON FOUR MILE HILL

The accident occurred near the summit of the Four Mile Hill at 11:30 Friday night. The accused's car sideswiped an automobile driven by Norman K. Campbell, 1375 Comox Street, Vancouver.

Const. Bud Godfrey was following O'Hara at the time, and when the latter failed to stop the constable gave chase. Accused resisted arrest and scuffled with the officer, resulting in the additional charge.

On Saturday O'Hara pleaded not guilty to the hit-and-run charge but after being found guilty this morning entered a plea of guilty to the second charge of assault.

Bar Association Backs Case After Victoria Lawyer Convicted

The long-awaited test case of the City Trades License By-law on whether the city had the right to increase its license fees last year, opened before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today.

The case, backed by the Victoria Bar Association, began in the City Police Court when Magistrate H. C. Hall convicted J. R. McIlree, city barrister, of failing to pay his increased trade license fee.

The by-law was passed by the City Council in order to raise the municipal revenue by $50,000 every six months.

The case is being closely watched by representatives from many other Victoria businesses now chafing under the increased license fees. License fees were raised for all tradesmen and professional men.

H. W. Davey, K.C., is acting on behalf of Mr. McIlree. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, assisted by A. J. Patton, city solicitor, is representing the city.

Since the city court hearing the test case has had many setbacks due to preliminary objections raised by Mr. Harrison. Judge Shandley first dismissed

Mr. Davey in his argument against the validity of the City By-law, claimed the city had no right to increase the fees without first calculating how much additional revenue such an increase would bring.

"No evidence was produced before the City Council to show that it was necessary to increase the trade license fees," said Mr. Davey, who claimed the by-law infringed on the principal of law. The case is continuing.

For marking pleats, tucks, darts, pockets, buttonholes and such, you'll find a tracing wheel the answer to many problems. The 98-cent gadget, with the means of transferring, with the aid of tracing paper, pattern markings, altering or making new patterns. For four sheets of tracing paper, one of each, in red, white, blue and yellow, you pay the clerk 49 cents.

A note to my fine feathered friends who are busy with the needle, buttons, bows and puffed sleeves, to try out a pressing mit. A great thick mit it is, to cope with the pressing of fancy seams, coat shoulders, curved sleeves or any hard-to-press places. Yours for 89 pennies. All you have to do is slip your hand into the pocket of the mit, then place the mit under the part to be ironed, holding the garment up off the board, and proceed ironing! Clever bunnies, aren't we?

Possibly you've seen the new (they are to me) skirt shields on counters before now, but I hadn't until this morning. Practical with a capital P, especially for the young woman who pounds a typewriter a goodly portion of the day and has to sit during those hours. To keep the well-groomed look in all your skirts tie the ribbons attached to the skirt-length panel, around your middle. The fabric used for the panel is light weight and inconspicuous even under clinging garments. Seventy-nine cents is the price.

ROYAL FAMILY FASHION NEWS AT RACES

EPSOM, Surrey, England (Reuter)—The greatest show in the British Isles, the Derby, was a woman's show.

From many parts of the world came visitors to the race which, with a French horse first, and the American-bred favorite, Prince Simon, second, had an international flavor.

A gay color spot was the Royal box, with the Queen dressed in lilac, Princess Elizabeth in a new tone of strawberry, Princess Margaret in grey and 83-year-old Queen Mary in her favorite powder blue. The Duchess of Kent, famous for her fashion lead, drew envious glances from women with her novel petal-shaped burnt-straw hat. A fashionable color was white, with screen stars Rita Hayworth and Margaret Lockwood sporting white headgear.

To Demonstrate Pottery Art

Plans for the affair were made at a recent meeting, when president Mrs. F. Davidson welcomed two new members.

Miss L. Bouron reported on arrangements being made for the program of "I Am A Canadian" Day, June 25, and Mrs. G. Bowers gave particulars of an institute drama group tea when a play was presented.

A poem "What Have We Done Today?" was read and the program arranged for B.C. Women's Institute conference in Vancouver was discussed.

Mrs. E. S. Blair reported on a bazaar held recently.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix: People say that my husband is too good for me. He has no bad habits. Brings home all the money he makes. Never takes a drink or smokes or goes out at night unless I know all about it. Would scarcely look at even Lana Turner if she should pass. But the trouble is some catty women are continually saying that he is a better husband than I am a wife, which may be true. I wish he would get drunk, or strike me, or have an affair with some woman so as to lessen the disparity between us and thus stop these catty women in their tracks. For 20 years I have tried to catch him in something, but can't, and it is getting beyond endurance. What to do? TROUBLED WIFE.

Answer: You prove my favorite theory, that neither men nor women really want the ideal mates for which they sigh, and that they couldn't stand them if they had them. The contrast between them would be too great. What they want is just some poor, faltering, weak human being like themselves who is continually stumbling and blundering and doing all those things which they should not do and leaving undone those things

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is no news to parents that children have strong desires which cannot always be gratified. Children want to do what no one can allow them to do. The child demands, asks, cries and the parent denies. Naturally, there will be some tension and unhappiness as a result.

But this does not mean, by any means, that a child must be allowed to do just what he wants to do, even though to forbid it may cause him temporary grief.

There isn't a day of his early life but that he will be busy discovering what it is he can do and what is denied to him, for any number of reasons. He can grow up wholesomely, even if he suffers some frustrations, if his parents see his world from his viewpoint and are willing to give him all possible freedom to act, when it is possible.

It has to be expected that while he is learning what is permissible and what is taboo, he will make plenty of mistakes. Children have a fine interest in all kinds of behavior. They don't talk to themselves and say, "I should not do that." They try it. They want to see for themselves what happens. They are also, when young, unaware of the public reaction to their behavior. Mother says No, but maybe not everyone.

In consequence, they experiment. The child may know that he should not take what does not belong to him, but temptation faces him and he succumbs. He snatches the bright pin from the ten-cent store, he takes a dime from a convenient pocketbook, and then he waits to see what happens. Maybe, he will get away with it. Maybe as should happen, society, in the form of a punitive parent, descends upon him.

Our leaflet No. 75, "Obedience and Punishment," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

St. John's—Annual meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was held with Eileen James in the chair. Reports on the year's work were received and the following officers elected: President, Peggy Melville; vice-president, Pat Hayward; recording secretary, Marjorie Noel; corresponding secretary, Eleanor Melville and treasurer, Mary Putman.

BETTER THAN THOU!

Those few people who would bitterly blackball the laboring man out of a downtown place of rest where he can enjoy a nice cool glass of beer on a hot summer day, consider themselves so much better than the laboring class, that they would not be seen with any laborer on the street, in a beer parlor or any other place.

Remember, it is written: "Not that which goeth into a man's mouth defileth him, but that which cometh forth out of his mouth, that defileth HIM."

Bentley-Robertson Newlyweds Piped From Church In Scottish Tradition

Sprays of white heather tied with Robertson tartan ribbons marked guest pews and lilac, stocks and snapdragons graced the altar in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the marriage of Agnes Isabel Robertson and Ronald Charles Bentley.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean performed the service Saturday at 8 for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robertson, 1278 Kings Road, and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bentley, 2661 Asquith Street.

In true Scottish tradition, the bridal party was piped from the church by Pipe-Major Ian Duncan, to the strains of "Highland Wedding."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white satin fashioned on princess lines with sweetheart neck, lily point sleeves and bodice inset with Chantilly lace at the waist.

An embroidered net veil misted from a coronet of seed pearls over the full-length train, and the bride wore pearl necklace and earrings, and carried a shower of scarlet roses and white heather.

Attendant duo were sisters of the bride, Mrs. Jack Woolley and Miss Ina Robertson, while their brothers, John and George Robertson assisted as ushers. Best man was Norman Bentley, brother of the groom.

Matron of honor and bridesmaid were gownned alike in pink and blue, respectively, their dresses made with cut-work eyelet bodices and bouffant taffeta skirts mounted with nylon net. They held pink carnations and iris, repeating the flowers in their hair.

Mrs. Robertson wearing floor-length shell pink with navy accessories and Mrs. Bentley in turquoise gown, assisted in receiving guests at Terry's Rose Room. J. R. Marrs gave the toast. Heather and rosebuds topped a three-tier wedding cake.

Guests were entertained with highland dances by Jean and Violet Robertson.

For the wedding trip to Seattle, Mrs. Bentley selected a forest green gabardine suit, small grey felt hat and grey topcoat, with matching snakeskin shoes and handbag. Her corsage bouquet was of yellow roses and valley lily.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley will live at 1159 Yates Street.

Report Shows Membership Increase, I.O.D.E. Groups

MONTREAL (CP)—With a friendly nod toward Canada's newest province, nearly 1,000 delegates to the golden jubilee convention of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire got down to work here today.

The five-day meeting opened Saturday night. On Sunday, delegates attended a service of thanksgiving and dedication.

Mrs. F. W. Bates of Toronto told delegates in a report prepared for delivery that membership now has reached 31,130 in Canada, an increase of 70 over last year. She said the I.O.D.E. now has 920 chapters in Canada.

Mrs. J. G. Sprague of Toronto, national secretary, outlined work members of the I.O.D.E. have done in the last year. Her report showed that affiliated Daughters of the British Empire in the United States had reported membership extending to 33 states and to Hawaii.

Mrs. J. D. Detweiler of London, Ont., education secretary, criticized Canada for "trying to ride two horses" in an attempt to "make the most" of both the British and American worlds.

Whereas promotion of a Canadian national unity would seem the responsibility of the educators, Mrs. Detweiler said that judging from books used in the schools Canadian educationists had "studiously avoided" giving children an opportunity to form attachment for either Canada or Empire.

So far instead of building a national allegiance Canadians only had succeeded in building up provincial allegiances.

The educational secretary reported that during the year the I.O.D.E. spent $132,605 on its nation-wide projects.

Of this total $33,481 went toward gifts of libraries, pictures, calendars and other supplies to schools. Prizes and scholarships to students totalled $70,058, including $22,102 for 416 scholarships and $31,495 for 275 bursaries, most of which went to the children of war veterans.

Proceeds From Tea For Sunshine Cabin

Speedwell Circle, King's Daughters, will hold a Sunshine Tea in Douglas Room of Hudson's Bay Company next Saturday from 2.30 to 4.30.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to complete the entire renovation and furnishing of the King's Daughters' cabin at Sunshine Camp, Sasseen.

Miss Margery Tindall will convene the affair and presiding at the tea urns will be Mrs. Herbert Davey, Mrs. R. B. Matthews and Miss Mildred Douglas of Vancouver.

Woman's Auxiliary, Royal Jubilee Hospital, Wednesday at 2.30, Nurses' Home... Victoria Purple Star Lodge No. 104, L.O.B.A., social, Wednesday evening, home of Mrs. A. Dent, 3228 Rutledge Street.

U.S. Rocket Plane Expected To Fly 1,700 Miles An Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force says it will begin flight tests early next year of a tiny rocket plane designed to hit a top speed of 1,700 miles an hour.

The plane is the X-1A, a successor to the faster-than-sound X-1. Like its forerunner, it is a product of the Bell Aircraft Corporation of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The X-1 itself was designed to have a top speed of 1,700 miles an hour. But design problems delayed completion of the turbine-driven fuel pump that was supposed to force alcohol and liquid oxygen into its engine. Instead of this pump, nitrogen gas under pressure was used to drive fuel into the rocket motors.

How fast the X-1 went with this substitute fuel delivery system never has been disclosed officially. Prior to flight tests, its top speed was estimated at 1,000 miles an hour at an altitude of more than 11 miles.

During the tests, which were completed early this month at Muroc, Calif., the Air Force announced the plane had traveled faster than sound repeatedly. Sound travels 763 miles an hour at sea level and slightly less than that at higher altitudes. Reports that the X-1 had reached 1,700 miles an hour were not confirmed officially.

Now the Air Force says the X-1A will be equipped with a turbine-driven fuel pump which should give improved performance.

CHIEF SLEUTH of special Senate Crime Investigating Committee is Harold G. Robinson of Burlingame, Calif., former F.B.I. agent. As opening move, committee is going into "alleged concentration of property, money and wealth in the hands of organized criminal elements." (NEA Photo.)

HOW MANY "BEER PARLORS" would be licensed in VICTORIA?

We don't know. But we do know that in Nanaimo, a City of 10,000, there are 14 "Beer Parlors" and the probability is that there would be at least 20 in Victoria to begin with, with many more to follow. Most of them would be right down town with perhaps several in one City Block and here are two examples of what we might expect as to which would certainly be licensed is just around the corner from the Y.M.C.A. and the Roman Catholic Cathedral. It is in the path of nearly all Theatres. Young people passing this hotel might, naturally go to the Beer Parlor instead of to a Coffee Shop.

BEER PARLOR LOCALITIES

ONE HOTEL

ANOTHER HOTEL

which would certainly apply for a license, and almost certainly be granted one, is opposite Prince Robert House where young sailors go for recreation. Many students from Canadian Universities are now here, away from home, taking courses in U.N.T.D. This Hotel is also opposite St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and en route to the Crystal Garden.
